

Trap Threatens U.S. Force In Korea As Red Tanks Hit Flank

Tugs Fail To Get Ss. Franconia Off St. Lawrence Rock

Passengers Taken Ashore As Liner Bound For Liverpool Runs Aground

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Three tugboats and the Franconia's own engines working full speed astern failed today to free the 20,175-ton Cunard liner from her perch on razor-sharp rocks off a tiny island in the St. Lawrence River.

The tugs pulled and pushed for two hours at high tide shortly after dawn as the Franconia's twin screws raced futilely. Divers went down to inspect the hull and their report will guide salvage crews in a new effort.

The Franconia, veteran of several hundred Atlantic crossings and a wartime stint as a troopship, ran aground Wednesday night off the western tip of the Isle of Orleans, about 10 miles east of Quebec.

The ship, which had taken on passengers and cargo at Quebec less than 24 hours previously, was headed downstream with a passenger list totaling more than 800. Her next scheduled stop was Liverpool, England.

Neither ships' officers nor company officials offered an immediate explanation of why the vessel veered from her course and piled up on rocks as many of the passengers watched a shipboard movie.

Will Try Refloating Again

The company said refloating operations, not initially successful, would be postponed until the next high tide, expected about 5 p.m. E.D.T. today.

None of the passengers was hurt in the grounding and there was "little, if any, panic," one Cunard official reported after flying here from the company's head office at Montreal.

The liner, which only a day earlier had been decked out in streamers and bunting as passengers went aboard for the Atlantic crossing, has a heavy list to starboard. The decks sloped so steeply that crewmen remaining aboard have to grab for support as they walk to and fro.

Ickes Scores MacArthur For Korea Setback

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes said today that Gen. MacArthur "was caught flatfooted in Korea."

Ickes assailed the United Nations commander in an article—"MacArthur the Unready"—published in the current issue of the New Republic magazine.

"Thanks to General MacArthur, South Korea was ill-prepared to defend itself," he wrote. "All American troops, except a small group of drillmasters, had been withdrawn, leaving an inadequate army of South Koreans, without tanks, without heavy artillery, and with only a few airplanes to repel the threatened invasion . . . by a well-trained, more numerous and more highly equipped army, which was awaiting the proper time to overrun the border."

20 Killed In German Crash

BERLIN (Reuter)—A workers' train crashed into a freight train near Wildenfelde, Saxony, Wednesday night, killing at least 20 persons, the East German news agency reported today.

A signalman was arrested. More than 50 persons were reported severely injured. The train was carrying home late-shift workers.

40 Injured As Vacation Train Crashes In East

PAYNESVILLE, Minn. (AP)—A special train loaded with eastern vacationists headed for Canada collided with a freight train here early today and at least 40 were injured. There were no fatalities, reports said. R. E. La Masurier, editor of the Paynesville Press, said doctors and ambulances were summoned from a wide area. Paynesville is 100 miles northwest of Minneapolis.

Both trains were operated by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie (Soo) Railroad. The 15-pullman special train had left Minneapolis at 1:30 a.m., bound for Banff, Alta. It carried 300 members of the Ohio, Pennsylvania and Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Associations. La Masurier said the east-bound freight was attempting to take a siding when the collision occurred. He reported the west-bound passenger train was traveling 50 miles an hour when it struck the freight shortly after 3 a.m. C.S.T.

Only the first two cars of the passenger train were derailed but the impact shattered glass throughout the passenger cars, the editor said. Railroad men were bringing another engine from Minneapolis to pull the shattered special train back to that city.

HEADING FOR SEATTLE

The 300 aboard it were to visit Canada en route to their National Hardware Convention in Seattle.

La Masurier said "scores of head" of livestock being carried east on the freight train were killed and their carcasses flung along the right-of-way.

Most of the injured were given first aid treatment and remained aboard the train.

A relief engine was sent from Minneapolis to haul back undamaged cars of the passenger train. A Soo Line spokesman said all members of the vacation party except the most seriously injured would be taken to Minneapolis.

Plane Crashes, Blows Up On Arizona Peak

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A big plane crashed and exploded into a mass of flames on Bassett Peak in the rugged Gilauro Mountains of southern Arizona early today, a rancher reported.

Homer Byrd said he heard the motors thunder over his ranch house, 40 miles northwest of Willcox, shortly after midnight.

"The plane sounded like it was in trouble," he said.

Byrd reported he looked out his window and saw an explosion and flames in the mountains about 10 miles distant.

Two planes were sent over Bassett Peak in an effort to find wreckage. Search parties also were traveling toward the scene.

The control tower at Tucson municipal airport reported observing an explosion in the air at an estimated distance of 25 miles from Tucson.

No commercial planes were reported overdue. Officers at Davis Monthan airbase here said they had no report that any military aircraft was missing, but were investigating.

Judge Rules Ducharme To Die

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice J. W. Estey of the Supreme Court of Canada today dismissed an application for leave to appeal to the court against the murder conviction of Frederick Ducharme, under sentence to be hanged Friday for the murder in Vancouver of 15-year-old Blanche Fern Fisher.

Importation Of Poultry Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal department of agriculture has imposed a ban on imports of poultry because of the serious outbreak of Newcastle disease in poultry flocks of British Columbia, it was announced today.

"Effective immediately and until further notice, no person may import into Canada any poultry, raw poultry carcasses or parts thereof, or poultry eggs," said the announcement.

"In addition, no person may move any poultry out of a quarantined area of British Columbia without the permission of an inspector under the Animal Contagious Diseases Act.

"The quarantined area is Vancouver Island and the islands adjacent thereto; that portion of the mainland being westerly of the meridian of west longitude passing through the most easterly limits of the town of Hope, and being southerly of the parallel of north latitude passing through the most northerly limits of the town of Hope; the islands lying between Vancouver Island and the mainland."

FOR DEFENCE OF COAST

B.C. Men At Seattle Air Raid Conference

A provincial civil defence committee has been set up to work with U.S. and Dominion authorities in preparing for possible air raids on the west coast.

Premier Byron Johnson announced overnight the B.C. committee members are: R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary; Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy minister of health; Evan Jones, deputy public works minister;

Percy C. Richards, executive assistant to the Premier.

At the same time, Mr. Johnson revealed, provincial and other officials met civil defence leaders of the Pacific northwest in Seattle Wednesday.

They included F. H. Harrison, substituting for Mr. Jones; Sub-Inspector Carl Leduc, B.C. Police; Mayor Percy George of Victoria; and Police Chief Walter Mulligan of Vancouver.

50 Superforts Hit Target In Red Area

TOKYO (BUP)—Columns of Communist tanks struck out for the mountain passes of Central Korea today (Friday) in a flanking drive designed to slice in behind the U.S. forces along the Kum River defence line before Taejon.

The North Korean push around the east flank of the Americans was reported by field dispatches and Gen. MacArthur's midnight communique.

"Enemy enveloping forces are attempting to negotiate the Taebek Mountain passes in an attempt to break through between Taegu and Taejon," MacArthur reported.

Such a break-through would cut the arterial transport lines between the Americans digging in along the Kum River and the big U.S. entry port of Pusan on the southeast coast.

U.S. Superforts struck the most powerful air blow of the Korean war. Nearly 50 of them showered 500 tons of bombs on an unidentified North Korean target.

Dirty weather in the battle area cut into the round-the-clock assault by U.S. and Australian fighters on the Korean forces directly behind the lines.

MacArthur reported in a special statement that the United States has suffered fewer than 500 casualties so far in the war. They included 42 killed, 190 wounded and 256 missing. Many of the latter were expected to turn up sooner or later.

"American ground units in Korea are fighting one of the most skillful and heroic holding actions in history," MacArthur said.

The regular, midnight communique, trailing well behind field reports, said U.S. and South Korean forces "continued, to withdraw before numerically superior forces to take up defence behind prepared positions and natural barriers."

The main movement to which is referred was the U.S. withdrawal to the south bank of the Kum, a dozen miles north of Taejon.

TURN EASTWARD
It was after the positions in the U.S. sector were stabilized along the Kum that front reports said Communist troops, armor and artillery were reported wheeling eastward to join in the big scale flanking manoeuvre.

MacArthur reported that two Communist divisions, the Fifth and 15th, were mauling South Korean forces around Chungju, 52 miles northeast of Taejon. The South Koreans were falling back in the general area to the east of the U.S. positions.

"Reinforcements believed to be Korean veterans from Manchuria are reported in Seoul," MacArthur reported.

Lady Mendl Dies In Versailles

VERSAILLES (UP)—The body of Lady Charles Mendl, famous hostess to three generations of international society who died Wednesday, will be cremated in a private family ceremony, a source at her villa said today.

The New York-born party giver probably will be cremated in Paris or Versailles, perhaps on Saturday, in accordance with her wishes, the source said.

Lady Mendl died of an arthritic complication. The petite perennial "best-dressed woman" of the fashion polls used to say she was born in 1870, but her friends said she was perhaps 10 years older.

Uncle Blamed By B.C. Girl After Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (BUP)—A Vancouver career girl now living in San Francisco, has named her uncle as the man who almost killed her.

Mary McIntyre, who hovered between life and death for three weeks following an attack made on her in her San Francisco apartment, Wednesday night told police her uncle, Douglas Carapata, 45, attacked her with a hammer.

Carapata was arrested and police said he faces a charge of intent to commit murder.

Miss McIntyre told authorities she and her uncle had an argument before he attacked her saying "you talk too much and I'm going to kill you."

The Vancouver girl suffered a skull injury in the assault and temporarily lost her power of speech.

U.N. Seat For Red China May Be Korea War Issue

LONDON (UP)—British diplomatic quarters said today Communist China's admission into the United Nations may prove to be Russia's price for agreeing to discuss a Korean settlement.

The Peiping regime's position with regard to the U.N., they said, may be the central theme of the continuing talks in Moscow between British Ambassador Sir David Kelly and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

U.S. Takes Over Freighter At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A U.S. freighter was commandeered on her arrival here Wednesday night to "carry" war cargo to Korea.

Her orders came from the U.S. Maritime Commission. K. C. Middleton, manager of Dodywell and Co. here, agents for the freighter California, said the ship is one of seven chartered to "move war tonnage direct to Korea."

The California, owned by States Steamship Co., was discharging her copra cargo today and will clear for an unnamed U.S. port.

Capt. J. E. Garigle of Portland, Ore., said he and his officers "will certainly stay with the vessel."

Canadian Destroyers Refuel In Mid-ocean, Get Sendoff From Comrades Aboard Ontario As Ships Head For Korean War Under U.N. Flag

Favored by calm seas, Canadian destroyer Athabaskan refuels from cruiser Ontario in mid-Pacific before latter vessel returned to this coast and destroyer flotilla proceeded to Pearl Harbor. Ships are refueling at Hawaiian base and probably at another U.S. Pacific island en route to Korean waters.

Officers and men aboard Ontario wave goodbye and good luck as Cayuga, Sioux and Athabaskan, out of picture, pass in column and go on alone across Pacific. Ontario is now off Vancouver Island, but brought mail, including these pictures, from destroyers which was brought ashore by pilot boat.

Headed into action as part of United Nations force in Korean war, Esquimalt-based flotilla parts company with cruiser Ontario and heads westward across vast Pacific. Cayuga, senior ship, leads, followed by Sioux and Athabaskan. Commanders are Capt. J. V. Brock, Cmdr. P. D. Taylor, Cmdr. R. P. Welland.

Judge Rules No Appeal For Ducharme

OTTAWA (CP)—Mr. Justice J. W. Estey of the Supreme Court of Canada today dismissed an application for leave to appeal to the court against the murder conviction of Frederick Ducharme, under sentence to be hanged Friday for the murder in Vancouver of 45-year-old Blanche Fern Fisher.

In his reasons for turning down the application, Mr. Justice Estey said he had come to the conclusion that the points raised by the defence did not involve a "point of law" such as the Criminal Code declares necessary for an appeal to the high court.

"Because of the gravity of the offence," the justice added, "I have taken more than the usual amount of time to consider these points, and further consideration has but confirmed the impression I had formed at the hearing."

The case was heard in chambers by Mr. Justice Estey last Thursday and Friday.

The judge dealt with various points brought up by the defence counsel in seeking the right to appeal. One of these was the defence claim that the trial judge should not have admitted evidence that Ducharme was partially undressed at the time of his arrest.

Mr. Justice Estey questioned the relevancy of this evidence, but said that, when considered in relation to the other evidence, it was "trivial and could not in any sense be regarded as prejudicial."

The B.C. Appeal Court had unanimously turned down Ducharme's appeal from his conviction.

No More Atrocities

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (BUP)—North and South Korea said today they will accede to United Nations' Secretary-General Acheson's demand that they stop atrocities in the Korean fighting.

KOREA WAR TO INCREASE CANADA'S DEFENCE COST

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence Department, as a result of Korea, is going to speed up and expand its equipment purchasing program this year on a scale that will add substantially to the record defence budget of $425,000,000, it was learned today.

The development—arising from fears that the Korea war is going to last for months and that it may be the start of other Communist aggressions—will see greater orders placed for such key equipment as fighter planes than had been planned.

Equipment purchasing has been mapped out over a period of years. This program will be accelerated. Planes and other things that normally wouldn't have been ordered until next year will be ordered now.

Financially, the development will emerge in Parliament in the form of supplementary estimates. These can be tabled at any time prior to March 31, 1951, the end of the fiscal year.

Two of three new fighter squadrons are expected to be formed by the R.C.A.F. within the next 12 months, but otherwise the emphasis in expansion is on equipment rather than manpower.

It is understood that shipment of equipment to those allies has been under consideration.

Flood Threatening New District Of Manitoba

Farmers In Oak Lake Area, West Of Brandon, Scan River Anxiously As Cellars Swamped

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—A flood crest, sweeping east from Virken down the Assiniboine River, today threatened farms along the stream's winding course.

The river, flooded by a 10-inch rainfall Monday night in the nearby Minota district still was rising today. Farmers in the Oak Lake area, 35 miles west of Brandon, anxiously watched the river level following a nine-foot rise in the last 24 hours.

At Minota, Frank Cullen, official measurer in the area, estimated 11 inches of rain fell in a 12-hour period beginning early Monday evening.

Bridges spanning creeks were washed out, he said, and thousands of acres of cultivated land inundated.

Crops would recover, he said, if the water drains quickly, but summer fallowing work will not be resumed until after harvest in many cases.

Every farm home in the district has water in the basement, with some filled to ground level, Mr. Cullen said.

2 Superforts Lost In Korea One In Action

TOKYO (UP)—Two U.S. Superfortresses were lost in the last two days, one of them to enemy action, the Far East Air Force announced today (Friday).

North Korean fighters shot down a B-29 over the coast of South Korea Wednesday. It was the first of the big bombers downed by the enemy planes, believed conventional fighters.

Another was lost Thursday, but not to enemy action. An announcement said the crew bailed out over the water between Korea and Japan.

New N. Korean Drive Aims At U.S. Flanks

Wreckage Of Plane, 3 Men Seen On Peak

But No Rescue Yet In Southern Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A big military plane crashed and exploded into a mass of flames in the rugged Galuro Mountains of southern Arizona early today.

Six hours after the crash, a search plane reported sighting wreckage and three survivors. Parachutes were spread on a ridge.

Davis-Monthan air force base here said the type of military plane had not been established.

Scene of the wreckage is about 40 miles northeast of Tucson in some of Arizona's roughest country. Clifford Stahl, pilot of the search plane from which the wreckage was sighted, said two of the men were standing on a ridge about two miles from the wreckage. A third survivor was seated beside a parachute. All three men were waving.

The ruggedness of the mountain terrain made it impossible for Stahl to land.

A rancher, Homer Boyd, reported he heard engines thunder over his ranch house, 40 miles northwest of Wilcox, after midnight.

"The plane sounded like it was in trouble," he said.

Boyd reported he looked out of his window and saw an explosion and flames in the mountains about 10 miles distant.

Red Wings, Hawks In Record Swap

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Red Wings swapped five players to Chicago Black Hawks for four today in the biggest National Hockey League trade in history.

The N.H.L. and Stanley Cup champion Wings gave the Hawks goalie Harry Lumley, defencemen Jack Stewart and Al Dewberry, left-wing Pete Babanico and centre Don Morrison.

SAME LICENSES, NEW TABS ON CARS IN 1951

This year's passenger car license plates in B.C. will be used again next year with 1951 validation tabs covering the 1950 marking, but the following year special heavy-duty five-year plates will be issued.

George Hood, superintendent of the Motor Vehicle Branch, said the heavy-duty plates could not be manufactured in time for issuance next year to passenger car owners. They will be ready in 1951 for commercial vehicles, though.

Colonels From Russia Aiding North Koreans

WASHINGTON (UP)—Unconfirmed reports received here today indicated there are about 15 Russian colonels with each of the North Korean divisions in the Communist invasion.

There are believed to be six North Korean divisions engaged in the battle.

Although a military spokesman here said there was no confirmation on this report, he added that the North Koreans are following the basic ground fighting strategy taught at the Russian war college.

This is making a direct attack and then following with strong enveloping or encircling movements, he said.

The strategy was used initially against Seoul, Incheon and other areas, as the North Koreans swept to the south. U.S. and South Korean units consistently have reported entrapments by enveloping actions.

It is well known that Russian officers trained the North Koreans, and one spokesman here said it was unlikely that North Korean officers could have learned their lessons so well that they could be leading the troops in the smashing drive.

Ready To Arrest All Quebec Reds

QUEBEC CITY (BUP)—Quebec authorities are geared for the immediate mass arrest of every Communist or active sympathizer in the province in the event of an emergency, it was disclosed today.

"We have a complete and up-to-date list of every one of them and we know at all times where they are," a high-ranking government official said, adding the busting had been proceeding since 1937.

Canada Bans All Imports Of Poultry

Vancouver Island has been quarantined by the federal department of agriculture in the fight against Newcastle disease in poultry flocks.

Shipment of poultry and eggs also from gulf islands and parts of the Fraser Valley is prohibited.

At the same time the department banned import into Canada of poultry and eggs from the U.S.

The prohibition order covers live birds, carcasses and eggs of chickens, turkeys, pigeons, geese, ducks and other barnyard or domestic fowl.

The orders said poultry cannot be moved out of the quarantined areas without approval of the department inspector.

Belgian Leftists Call Total Strike On King's Return

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UP)—The Socialist General Federation of Labor today scheduled a general strike Friday and Saturday in French-speaking southeastern Belgium to protest the scheduled return of exiled King Leopold III to his throne.

The strike call was issued as the pro-Leopold Parliament resumed debate on the government proposal to restore the exiled king.

A 24-hour general strike scheduled earlier this week in French-speaking Wallonia was postponed. The Labor Federation threatened at that time to call an unlimited general strike if Leopold returns.

Pleven Cabinet Wins Test Vote

PARIS (AP)—Premier Rene Pleven won a vote of approval today for his new middle-of-the-road cabinet. The vote was 335 to 226.

Thus ended the latest French political crisis, which began June 22 with the fall of Premier Georges Bidault's government.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

TREASURE TROVE

IN BETWEEN the rains and fogs which seem an inseparable part of Nova Scotia's summer—this particular one, at any rate—I made a trip out to lovely old Chester at the head of Mahone Bay.

The beauty of its situation makes it a popular summer resort, its whole population only amounting to about 1,100, I am told. But what intrigued me was not only its magnificent blending of landscape and seascap but its historic background, which dates back to 1759, when it was just settled by a few families from New England.

PIRATES' LAIR

DESPITE that eminently respectable start, Chester seems to have developed a rather questionable reputation later, as I learned on good authority that in the early days the lovely little cove and bays of Mahone Bay, now so redolent of peace, were the rendezvous of pirates in their craft flying the black flag.

In that connection, I sat up and took notice when Oak Island was pointed out to me as once the haunt of the notorious Captain Kidd. Tradition states that this scoundrel, whom time has clothed with an aura of romance, buried much of his ill-gotten gains here.

MANY SEARCHES

SO WIDELY credited is this legend that for nearly 200 years various attempts have been made to locate the buried treasure. As long ago as 1796, three young men who were hunting on the island noticed an old ship's block hanging from a huge oak tree, evidently used as a derrick. Beneath it was a marked depression in the soil.

The hunters got shovels and began digging. At 10 feet they came across a layer of oak planks, and another similar plank flooring, covered with charcoal, at 20 feet. These plank floorings were discovered at intervals to 90 feet down, the last being covered with putty.

SEA HAS CLAIMS

BUT AT 96 FEET deep, water rushed in and flooded the pit. For a century this flooding defeated successive attempts to go deeper. Then borings were made and three oak chests were recovered at a depth of 150 feet.

As may well be imagined, this stimulated many expeditions, despite the poor-pooling of the skeptics. But the finding at various times of part of a gold watch-chain, and a piece of sheepskin parchment with indecipherable ink markings on it has served to spice the tale and intrigue the adventurous.

LATEST OPTIMIST

WHILE I was in Chester I learned of the arrival, a few days earlier, of the latest optimist's endeavors to locate the buried treasure of the bold, bad buccaneer. No less a hard-headed businessman than a New York mining engineer, John Whitney Lewis, recently bought Oak Island from its 83-year-old owner, Judge Frederick T. Blair of Amherst, who got the treasure trove right from the Nova Scotia government.

Judge Blair made his first try at the alleged "money pits" in 1885, when his workmen brought up parchment and bits of crude iron work. The late President Roosevelt even tried his hand with a shovel in 1909, but had no luck.

MODERN METHODS

LOCAL RUMOR has it that Mr. Lewis is planning to use some of the engineering machinery and "know-how" gained in 38 years of mining to go after Captain Kidd's loot from Spanish galleons of old—and keep out the Atlantic which has been the bugbear of previous treasure-hunters.

Whether he succeeds or not, remains to be seen. But, as far as I am concerned, the Captain Kidd legend is a good one, whether true or not, and adds immeasurably to the romance and charm of this beautiful bit of Nova Scotia.

WELL-CHOSEN RECITAL

Series Draws Crowds Despite Summer Sun

By AUDREY St. D. JOHNSON

The Provincial Summer School concert series at Victoria High School, continues to draw large audiences of students and others, despite the warm invitation of summer sun.

Wednesday morning, Pauline Young, soprano, of Toronto presented a well-chosen recital of classical song, ranging from Bach and Mozart to the porcelain charm of Quilter and Michael Head. Also included were Micaela's Air from "Carmen" and a lieder group consisting of three songs by Hugo Wolf.

Miss Young sang with intense sincerity and an appreciation for the meaning and mood of her selections. She has many warm and pleasing qualities in a voice of fair range and power. Yet these are largely over-shadowed by her principal fault, which is a serious lack of breath-control.

This is a fault which warrants the singer's close attention inhibiting as it does, a natural gift for color and marring the potentially lovely mezzo quality of her lower notes with breathy tone.

As accompanist, Grace Timp provided fluent and artistic support to the soloist.

'WOLF' WHISTLE WOES

New Nanaimo Ship Ready Month Before Scheduled

C.P.R. Vice-President Announces Vessel To Be Launched On Clyde In September

The new Nanaimo ferry now under construction on the Clyde will be launched in September—a month ahead of schedule—William Manson, C.P.R. vice-president, said today.

Speaking at a luncheon given in his honor in Vancouver by Senator S. S. McKeen, Mr. Manson announced that the 337-foot vessel will be named "Princess of Nanaimo."

"This name seems in keeping with the growing volume of traffic between Vancouver and island points. It is appropriate that the ship will dock at the city after which she is to be named at a terminal, which, like herself, is the most up-to-date of its kind," the vice-president said.

He added that putting the ship into service is but one of the many important steps the C.P.R. plans to keep up with the rapid growth of the west coast.

DELIVERY NEXT SPRING

The 6,000-ton auto ferry is being built by Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. Ltd., Govan, Scotland, for delivery next spring—probably April.

She will carry more than 100 cars on two decks, and will be able to handle 1,500 passengers in day service.

The recently-appointed head of the C.P.R.'s Pacific region said that crop outlook on the prairies was quite favorable, and as a result, the company was looking forward to a substantial grain movement through Vancouver this fall. C.P.R. transportation

Tax Collections Run High At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Tax collections are running high. Frank L. Kliff, city treasurer and collector, announced 81.1 per cent of the current tax levy was in the city purse at the end of June.

At the same time last year collections amounted to 82 per cent and at the end of June, 1948, they were 78.55 per cent.

THWART THIEVES

Don't Leave Things In Cars, Police Warn

Do not leave valuable articles in parked cars as they attract thieves.

This is the advice of Police Chief John Blackstock of Victoria in the drive to curb car prowling in the city.

There has been a wave of car prowling during the last few weeks, tourist cars being a preferred target because of clothing and other valuables left in them. While the police were doing everything possible to catch those responsible, the chief suggests that taking valuables out of cars will take away the temptation.

While most of the cars robbed have been locked, ventilating windows have been broken to gain entry.

Ikkes Scores MacArthur For Korea Setback

WASHINGTON (UP) — Former Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ikkes said today that Gen. MacArthur "was caught flatfooted in Korea."

Ikkes assailed the United Nations commander in an article—"MacArthur the Unready"—published in the current issue of the New Republic magazine.

"Thanks to General MacArthur, South Korea was ill-prepared to defend itself," he wrote.

"All American troops, except a small group of specialists, had been withdrawn, leaving an inadequate army of South Koreans, without tanks, without heavy artillery, and with only a few airplanes to repel the threatened invasion . . . by a well-trained, more numerous and more highly equipped army, which was awaiting the proper time to overrun the border."

Girl Writes It Was Uncle Who Beat Her

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Still speechless more than five weeks after a brutal bludgeoning, Mary McIntyre scribbled on a temperature chart the name of her uncle as her attacker.

Police arrested the uncle, Douglas Carapata, 45-year-old egg salesman. Homicide chief Frank Ahern said he would be charged today with assault with intent to commit murder.

Wednesday was the first time police had been allowed to question Miss McIntyre, 24, formerly of Vancouver, B.C. She was near death for more than two weeks.

It was Carapata who called police then. He said he found his niece unconscious after receiving a mysterious telephone call that she had been hurt.

Sitting in a hospital wheel chair Wednesday, Miss McIntyre answered police questions in an almost childish, scrawl. The blow that took away her power of speech also made writing difficult.

"A hammer," she wrote, was the weapon.

The attack was prompted, she wrote, by an argument that "began with me and wound up with Jack."

"Jack," police said, is Jack Kline, a performer with a circus now in Eureka, Calif. A member of the district attorney's staff was to question Kline there today.

Ahern said Stanley Boulton, a bellhop who shares a room with Carapata, would be charged as an accessory.

Tugs Fail To Get Ss. Franconia Off

Passengers Taken Ashore As Liner Bound For Liverpool Runs Aground

QUEBEC CITY (UP)—Three tugboats and the Franconia's own engines working full speed astern failed today to free the 20,175-ton Cunard liner from her perch on razor-sharp rocks off a tiny island in the St. Lawrence River.

The tugs pulled and pushed for two hours at high tide shortly after dawn as the Franconia's twin screws raced futilely. Divers went down to inspect the hull and their report will guide salvage crews in a new effort.

The Franconia, veteran of several hundred Atlantic crossings and a wartime stint as a troopship, ran aground Wednesday night off the western tip of the Isle of Orleans, about 10 miles east of Quebec.

The ship, which had taken on passengers and cargo at Quebec less than 24 hours previously, was headed downstream with a passenger list totaling more than 800. Her next scheduled stop was Liverpool, England.

Neither ships' officers nor company officials offered an immediate explanation of why the vessel veered from her course and piled up on rocks as many of the passengers watched a shipboard movie.

Will Try Refloating Again

The company said refloating operations, not initially successful, would be postponed until the next high tide, expected about 5 p.m., E.D.T., today.

None of the passengers was hurt in the grounding and there was "little, if any, panic," one Cunard official reported after flying here from the company's head office at Montreal.

The liner, which only a day earlier had been decked out in streamers and bunting as passengers went aboard for the Atlantic crossing, has a heavy list to starboard. The decks sloped so steeply that crewmen remaining aboard have to grab for support as they walk to and fro.

The Franconia grounded at 9:50 E.D.T. Wednesday night. By midnight all the passengers had been taken ashore. Many of them clambered down "Jacob's ladders" into tugs, tenders, private yachts and harbor craft that put out from Quebec and Levis.

Guests at the Bel Air Hotel, a resort establishment located on a wide pier on the island, gave up their beds overnight for the stranded passengers who went ashore with little more than the clothes they were wearing and small cabin handbags.

Hotel Jammed

The hotel has only 52 rooms and most of them were jammed. The hotel lobby took on aspects of a major relief headquarters as men, women and children who were unable to cram into the rooms stretched out on blankets and cat-napped, their coats around them.

Others strolled through the village for want of anything else to do until boats arrived to take them to a Quebec City hotel.

The liner is perched about 500 feet from a highway that circles the island.

The vessel hit bottom opposite a gas station operated by Marcel Lafamme. "When it hit, my whole station shook," Lafamme said. "Then I looked up and saw a big ship sitting there. For some time I couldn't believe my eyes."

Capt. H. S. Hinton and his wife, from Calgary, were among the passengers and were heading for a small village in Hampshire, England. Hinton said they and several hundred other passengers were watching a shipboard movie when they felt the crash.

"We heard a crash and it shook us all up," he said. "I looked at my watch and it was just 9:50 p.m."

Price Of Lead Again Advanced

NEW YORK (AP)—The price of lead was advanced a half-cent today by a leading custom smelter.

A similar increase was made Wednesday. Demand for the metal has shown improvement recently, particularly from foreign users apparently concerned over the possibility that the Korean war may spread and disrupt supplies.

Lead futures prices were up more than 8 of a cent a pound on the New York Commodity Exchange.

Lady Mendl Dies

VERSAILLES (UP) — The body of Lady Charles Mendl, famous hostess to three generations of international society who died Wednesday, will be cremated in a private family ceremony, a source at her villa said today.

The New York-born party giver probably will be cremated in Paris or Versailles, perhaps on Saturday, in accordance with her wishes, the source said.

Lady Mendl died of an arthritic complication.

The petite perennial "best-dressed woman" of the fashion world used to say she was born in 1870, but her friends said she was perhaps 10 years older.

U.S. Takes Over Freighter At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A U.S. freighter was commandeered on her arrival here Wednesday night to "carry war cargo to Korea." Her orders came from the U.S. Maritime Commission.

K. C. Middleton, manager of Dodwell and Co. here, agents for the freighter California, said the ship is one of seven chartered to "move war tonnage direct to Korea."

The California, owned by States Steamship Co., was discharging her cargo today and will clear for an unnamed U.S. port.

Capt. J. E. Garigle of Portland, Ore., said he and his officers "will certainly stay with the vessel."

U.N. Seat For Red China May Be Korea War Issue

LONDON (UP)—British diplomatic quarters said today Communist China's admission into the United Nations may prove to be a Korean settlement.

The Peking regime's position with regard to the U.N., they said, may be the central theme of the continuing talks in Moscow between British Ambassador Sir David Gifford and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

A diplomatic "swap" as a prelude for even discussing a settlement had a precedent in Berlin. The western allies insisted that

40 Injured As Soo Line Train With Load Of Vacationists In Collision

PAYNESVILLE, Minn. (AP)—A special train loaded with eastern vacationists headed for Canada collided with a freight train here early today and at least 40 were injured. There were no fatalities, reports said.

R. E. La Masurier, editor of the Paynesville Press, said doctors and ambulances were summoned from a wide area. Paynesville is 100 miles northwest of Minneapolis.

Both trains were operated by the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie (Soo) Railroad. The 15-pullman special train had left Minneapolis at 1:30 a.m., bound for Banff, Alta. It carried 300 members of the Ohio, Pennsylvania and Atlantic Seaboard Hardware Associations.

La Masurier said the east-bound freight was attempting to take a siding when the collision occurred. He reported the west-bound passenger train was traveling 30 miles an hour when it struck the freight shortly after 3 a.m. C.S.T.

Only the first two cars of the passenger train were derailed but the impact shattered glass throughout the passenger cars, the editor said. Railroad men were bringing another engine from Minneapolis to pull the shattered special train back to that city.

The 300 aboard it were to visit Canada en route to their National Hardware Convention in Seattle.

La Masurier said "scores of head" of livestock being carried east on the freight train were killed and their carcasses flung along the right-of-way.

Most of the injured were given first aid treatment and remained aboard the train.

A relief engine was sent from Minneapolis to haul back undamaged cars of the passenger train. A Soo Line spokesman said all members of the vacation party except the most seriously injured would be taken to Minneapolis.

Russia Believed To Have 800 Ships Near Korea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is believed to have about 800 naval craft deployed near the Korean war area—including between 70 and 80 submarines, a third of them the new XX-1 snorkels.

Although the 800 total estimate is numerically big, there is no evidence comprises anything to make up a balanced naval force. Those studying the situation believe many of these vessels are small craft of various types and that no vessel larger than a cruiser is in the area.

So far as can be determined, the Russian navy still possesses no aircraft carriers.

One unknown factor, seems to be how many of the smaller vessels may be landing craft or types that could be used for an amphibious operation.

The presence in the Far East of any sizeable number of landing craft could be of grave concern to the U.S. forces. They could be used to provide an amphibious "lift" for North Korean flanking operations down the South Korean coastline. Or they might some day be used in an attempted operation against the American defense bastion in Japan, should Russia and the United States fall into a glove-off war.

SUB FORCE MENACE

However, it is the Russian submarine force that is drawing most U.S. attention.

As deployed, the Red sub fleet in the Far East seems to have as its main job the potential duty of cutting the Asiatic-Indonesian lifeline along which the United States would send help in event of general war in the Orient.

Bases used by the Red-sub fleet are believed to include the excellent ports of Dairen, in Manchuria, on the Yellow Sea; harbors on Sakhalin Island, directly north of Japan; the big base of Vladivostok; Okhotsk, a port in the northwest corner of the sea of same name; and naval installations along the Kamchatka Peninsula and to the north along the Siberian mainland.

He Must Make Up His Mind

CONTINUED UNREST IN BELGIUM further illustrates the fact that three elections held within the past year have failed to settle the problem of whether King Leopold III is to return to the throne of that country or not. Polling last March gave a plurality of 58 per cent to the party supporting his re-enthronement, but with the country split along racial, religious and geographical lines, the margin was too small to warrant action by the new government. Another general election early last month proved even less decisive. Although the Social Christian (Catholic) Party won a clear majority of four seats over all opposing groups, the people's verdict was still not definite enough. The controversy remains stalemated.

So hotly has the quarrel raged, most governmental functions have at times been completely stalled—a critical situation in these days. The original question of Leopold's conduct at the time of the German occupation in the early days of the war—was his capitulation cowardice or wisdom, betrayal or strategy?—has become entangled in a mass of attendant problems. Precluding any easy settlement, the latent conflicts within the country have been roused and attached to the central issue. Thus Catholics urge Leopold's return, non-Catholics oppose it; the Flemish support it, the Walloons fight it; the north generally favors it, the south decries the idea. Adding to the confusion, the political element enters in the attitude of the various parties. Most strongly supporting the return of the King is the Social Christian Party. Socialists and Liberals are in equally strong opposition.

Under the circumstances, and in view of the obvious dangers being imposed on the country, it would seem the part of wisdom for Leopold to abdicate and allow his son to take the throne. Although anti-monarchists still will not welcome such a move, the personal antagonism toward the present King would no longer be a factor, and young Baudouin might have a better chance of earning popularity and uniting the nation. The current "crisis" obviously cannot remain indefinitely.

Leopold, however, reportedly harbors a bitter resentment of the treatment which he has been accorded—widespread antagonism toward his Queen, successor to the late and popular Queen Astrid, deepens it—and he sees his unequivocal restoration as the only means by which his record may be cleared. Granted that, he might prove amenable to abdication and return to exile. There the matter stands, unsatisfactory for Belgium and unsatisfactory for the nations with which she is united in joint economic and military commitments. It would seem to be a matter for voluntary and courageous action now, before events make their inexorable demands.

The Parrot-Like Cry

OUT OF THE VAST DEPTHS OF his knowledge of the international scene in general and the Far East fighting in particular, Mr. Nigel Morgan, provincial leader of the Labor-Progressive Party, told an audience Monday night that prevention of war depended on "halting the unlawful aggression of the United States in Korea."

This dictum, of course, conforms to the Stalinist line which the followers of Tim Buck and Company are spouting all across the Dominion. It is built up on the long-winded statement issued last week by Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko—to which Mr. Walter Lippmann replied in devastating fashion on this page on Tuesday.

Mr. Lippmann argued that Mr. Gromyko must have hoped that those who read the beginning of his statement would not read the end, or that those who persevered to the end would have forgotten the beginning. Says the eminent writer, in part:

In the beginning he (Gromyko) argues that the fighting started because the South Koreans attacked the North Koreans on June 26. At the end he argues that there is a civil war and that the North Koreans have a right to wage it without being interfered with.

A Matter Of Defence

THE PROGRESS OF MILITARY draft programs in both Britain and the United States increasingly emphasizes the absence of such a policy in this Dominion and the determination of Canadian leaders that only the most extreme emergency will lead to Canadian conscription. Although a war of an ultimate extent as yet impossible to determine is raging across the Pacific from us, the extremity that would impose compulsory military service on the men of this country would seem to be still well in the future. That is not to say, however, that the need to maintain the western and other defences of Canada in effective condition is not becoming increasingly apparent. The state of the world is not such as to encourage the existence of empty forts, unmanned guns or populations unable through lack of training to operate the available defences.

These two factors—the need and the method of supplying it—point to one possible answer, namely, the development of a volunteer force capable of joining the permanent armed services in the defence of Canada immediately if and when required. Such a force now exists in the form of the reserve units of the Army, Navy and Air Force, but they are below the strength needed either for effective training or effective use. The situation then is clear—they should be brought up to strength through the voluntary co-operation of Canadian men in order that more drastic measures may not be necessary.

Much as we pride ourselves on the peaceful appearance of our armed forces and the wartime exploits of both professional and "civilian" officers and men, Canadians in general are not by nature inclined to participation in military activities. The process of exploiting half a continent has kept several generations of our people busy. Wars have been an interruption, not a career. We must recognize, however, the changing conditions. The increasing mechanization of modern armaments, the application of advanced science to military equipment, the involved techniques now necessary in waging war—all these mean that lengthy preliminary training is needed to make volunteers into soldiers, sailors or airmen. The time for that training is now, and the reserve forces offer it at little cost in time or effort but with great profit in potential defensive strength.

Enterprise Shares With Labor In Turning Out Country's Goods

By JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

SO MUCH prominence has been given to labor's place in industry that a great many people have come to believe that it is the whole of industry and that therefore it is entitled to the returns. But what people who so think overlook is that there are also non-labor factors in all production—factors in which labor's influence and effort are entirely absent.

VITAL FACTORS

Yet, so vital are these factors in industry that society as we know it, and the security of labor, and the gains it has achieved over the years are all dependent on the success and well-being of these non-labor factors.

Writing on this subject in a book which he has called "Enterprise in a Free Society," Professor C. E. Griffin of the University of Michigan's Department of Business Economics has pointed out that the most neglected and the most taken-for-granted of the non-labor factors is enterprise itself—that is the spirit of undertaking, the willingness to run risks and the ability to organize and manage.

Before labor has a place, someone must have had an idea and make it possible by the urge to make it a concrete fact, even though the idea may be merely to improve on existing operations. To meet this demand for accomplishment requires that someone must undertake the hazard of promoting the new or improved industry, accepting the chance of loss in the hope of gain.

But many a sound idea courageously promoted has still failed because the organizing skill of the promoter was not equal to his courage and enthusiasm. Many a business that has surmounted even these obstacles has failed because of lack of ability to handle labor, to discover and satisfy markets, or to control costs. All these non-labor factors must work together in reasonable harmony before labor can participate in the effort or share in the returns.

EQUAL BENEFITS

If then there are creative and developing and administrative factors that must precede the effort and assure the opportunity of labor, it should be obvious that labor cannot be entitled to the full return on what it produces. The non-labor factors that make labor's position possible should be entitled to equal benefits at least. This is what is known as profit, the wage of the effort that precedes the effort of labor and makes it possible. On such a basis, is it reasonable to argue against the fairness of profits?

The Great Debate

By JOSEPH AND STEWART ALSOP from Washington

SINCE the war in Korea started, the only remaining deterrent to Soviet aggression elsewhere is the atomic bomb. This is because American disarmament has forced the United States to commit all available conventional forces to the Korean war. The arguments now being offered for and against partial national mobilization can only be understood in the light of these facts.

These arguments may be briefly summarized. On the one hand, the State Department firmly believes that further Russian aggression can only be prevented by a real effort to mobilize the American military potential. A powerful group in the Defence Department, on the other hand, is attempting to persuade President Truman that a serious rearmament effort would "provoke" Stalin and the Politburo, and thus lead to war.

THE real danger of the American situation, since the aggression in Korea, is still only dimly realized. There has been a good deal of glib talk about sending six divisions to Korea, as if six divisions were equipped, trained and ready to go. In fact, although ostensibly the United States disposes of nine and a half army divisions and two Marine divisions, this is paper strength. Not more than three divisions (outside of Germany) are in a condition of partial readiness.

The 1st Marine Division, for example, now on its way to Korea, is for reasons of "economy" at less than half war strength, and most other available divisions are even less prepared to fight. Fighting divisions are not created overnight. Nor are tactical air groups, or carriers, or navy task forces, or the other elements of conventional military power, which have been slashed to the bone, and which are needed to fight the Korean war.

THE plain fact is that, barring a miracle, the United States is going to have to send to Korea just about every combat unit that exists, other than long-range bomber groups and the forces in Germany. Nor is this all. America's two most important allies, Great Britain and France, are already deeply committed in the Far East—in Malaya, Hong Kong and Indo-China. Britain and France, with the Red army in Germany, cannot possibly denude themselves further in Europe.

IN THE face of these facts, there is the further fact that the Soviet Union is now known, on the basis of reliable intelligence, to have planned a drive on Iran in the early autumn, as a sequel to the drive on Korea. "Free Iranian" divisions with the help of the clandestine Communist front, Tudeh party, were to "liberate" Iran from "Anglo-American imperialism." If the Kremlin's timetable is not revised, and a drive on Iran does take place, there will now be no conventional forces left to meet it. That leaves the atomic bomb, and the atomic bomb means world war.

Presidential assistant Averell Harriman, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the State Department's team of Russian experts are unanimously convinced that further Soviet aggression, in Iran or elsewhere, can be prevented. They argue that, while the Soviet leaders have little but contempt for existing American military power, Stalin and the Politburo have a most healthy respect for American power once mobilized.

THERE is all sorts of evidence pointing toward this conclusion. One incident will serve as an example. Towards the end of the war, an Allied official in Moscow remarked to Stalin that the Western Allies had enormously underestimated Soviet strength. Stalin replied wryly that the capitalist intelligence services in the Soviet Union were never very efficient at best.

He went on to say that in fact the Soviet Union was not strong before the war, but that it was a basic error to confuse the actual military strength-in-being of a country with its military potential when mobilized. And to clinch his argument, he pointed to the United States, which had been, he said, a military nonentity before the war, and which had become during the war the strongest military power in the world.

STALIN'S respect for the American military potential is what still prevents a general war. The State Department experts are sure that the American response to the Communist aggression in Korea has already surprised and dismayed the men in the Kremlin. And they are also sure that the best chance of dissuading the dictator in the Kremlin from undertaking new adventures in aggression is a really serious effort to bring American resources fully to bear in the world balance of power.

As for the arguments of the business-as-usual group in the Defence Department, they have a familiar ring. Stanley Baldwin and Neville Chamberlain also feared that a serious effort to strengthen the defences of Great Britain would "provoke" Hitler to attack. The result was what Winston Churchill called the "unnecessary war." If the Defence Department group prevails on President Truman, the end will certainly be the same. Fortunately, this appears less and less likely to be the outcome of the great debate which is now going on. (Copyright, 1950, New York Herald Tribune Inc.)

COWS VERSUS PEOPLE

Good news about the people of Vermont. The census says they are still a minority, but they are gaining on their cows, which long have outnumbered them.

Vermonters are nice people. And as nice as cows may be, we still prefer the 375,830 Vermonters to the 405,000 cows.

Gosh! Aren't Things Bad Enough?

Why I Left The Red Army

By MIKHAIL KARATSEV

Formerly Sergeant in the Soviet Army (As broadcast to Russia by the BBC)

MY NAME is Mikhail Karatsev. I am an Ossetian by nationality, born in the village of Khumalag, in the Darg-Kokh district of the North Ossetian autonomous republic. I am 24 years old. My father was a peasant and joined a collective farm in 1928. When I was seven, my father was arrested without having committed any crime and was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment. I was brought up by my uncle in the town of Orjoniokidze where I finished school.

JOINED ARMY

In 1945 I volunteered for the Red Army and joined its ranks. We left for the front on April 17 but by the time we arrived there the war had ended, and we could not take part in the actual fighting. I then served five years with the Soviet occupation troops in Germany, and on May 22 this year, fully conscious of what I was doing, I went over to the British occupation authorities, which granted me asylum as they do to all the political refugees.

I decided to leave the Soviet Army because it is an army of conquest and oppression. The soldiers are educated in a spirit of sinister fanaticism, a spirit of hatred for other nations. All the peoples of the Soviet Union are subjected to spiritual, physical and social slavery. They are forbidden to say what they think and if someone should dare to express what he really feels, he is immediately deported to "remote areas." This is what was done six years ago to our brotherly nations, the Chechens and the Ingush.

On February 23, 1944, Red Army Day, I was in my home village of Khumalag, which is only eight kilometres away from the Checheno-Ingush autonomous republic. We already knew that troops of the NKVD and MGD (Ministry of State Security) and the militia were stationed there and that in the districts surrounding the republic so-called extermination battalions were being formed. So as not to let the population suspect what threatened it, throughout the republic the usual pictures of Lenin and Stalin had been posted together with the slogans "Let us carry out with honor the Red Army Day manoeuvres."

HARPENDEN RUN

In the interesting article on Bill Dayton's career published in Saturday's Times I noticed -- as a railway fan naturally would--paragraphs describing the super-fast "businessmen's trains" on the old Midland mainline running between Harpenden and London, which are eulogised as covering "the 20 miles at 60 m.p.h., and delivering the passengers at St. Pancras at 10 minutes to nine."

My memory of railway matters in England at the time dealt with, the early 1900s, coupled with a certain amount of delving into gradient-books, etc., prove conclusively that the performances so vividly portrayed by Bill Dayton were never done. "Tis true 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true."

Firstly, Harpenden is approximately 25 miles from St. Pancras, not 20, so the train's average speed would be 75 m.p.h. start-to-stop, not 60, and over very heavy gradients which include roughly 5 miles of climbing at 1 in 200, so it is quite safe to say that no such spectacular performance was ever done at that time, nor since, nor is it even at present. No train in England has ever, even in the pre-war years when so many ultra-fast trains were running, averaged 60 m.p.h. start-to-stop. Had one done so, every railway fan

At 7 o'clock in the morning all the inhabitants of the villages and "auls" (Caucasian settlements) were summoned to attend meetings devoted to the Red Army Day celebrations. By that time in each house there were two or three armed soldiers, and at the meetings the civilian population was encircled by troops armed with machine-guns and automatic rifles. In the outlying areas heavy guns were sited.

At the meetings party representatives wearing military uniform announced to the people that for treachery to the Fatherland and failure to obey Soviet authority, the whole of the population would be deported on that very day. Passenger traffic along the North Caucasian railway was stopped, and at 7 o'clock in the evening the Chechens and the Ingush were loaded onto trucks. They were allowed to take 24 puds (about 370 lbs.) of property with them but when they reached Stalingrad everything was taken away from them. The Chechens and the Ingush were deported to Siberia. There they were settled in separate groups, consisting of a few families each, and were forbidden to maintain contact with each other. Some of them had managed to go into hiding and, when I went home on leave, I heard they were at present engaged in partisan warfare in the mountains. It is known, of course, that the Crimean Tatars, the Karachais and the Balkars had been deported in a similar way.

This is how Stalin's promise of freedom and independence for all the peoples inhabiting our country was fulfilled. All these crimes and violence against the nations and the peoples of our country made me decide to leave the Soviet Union at the very first opportunity. In the Soviet Army in Germany, commanders' orders were read aloud to soldiers which alleged that the authorities of the Western Allies were returning all the political refugees. This is a lie. England always grants asylum to all the political refugees, that is to say, to those persons who leave their own countries because of disagreement with the existing regime. This is why the British authorities have granted asylum to me.—OFNS Copyright.

As Our Readers See It

In the country would have been stirred up over it; it would have been watched, timed, photographed, written about and enthused over to infinity, yet history is mute on the subject. No, Mr. Dayton, it was never done! The figures are as exaggerated as the report of Mark Twain's death. The fastest start-to-stop average ever done in Britain was just before the war, by the 4 p.m. Kings Cross-York train, which covered the 188 miles in 157 minutes, an average of 71.9 m.p.h. Alas, none of these super-fast trains is running now.

The "slipping" of carriages, which Mr. Dayton refers to—the detaching of one or more at speed from the tail of a train—was common in England at that time, and was still done to a limited extent right up to the war. For instance in my young days—and Bill Dayton's—the 8.45 a.m. Brighton-London Bridge non-stop "business-men's" train used to slip two coaches at East Croydon, to be picked up and sent to Victoria. In 1930 I travelled in the cab of the "Cornish Riviera Limited" from Paddington to Plymouth, and two coaches were slipped at Heywood Junction. But for some reason or other the slipping of coaches is not so popular as it once was. EDWARD H. LIVESAY.

HERBERT HOOVER, former President of the United States, has returned to his advocacy of the scrapping of the United Nations organization and the establishment of a new one with the Communist countries shut out.

He first broached this idea in a speech last April 27 in New York. His new approach to the subject was made in an address at the dedication of a memorial in Emporia, Kan., to the late William Allen White, noted Emporia editor.

Hoover said his proposal was "unanimously and loudly denounced" by the State Department and by U.N. officials. He declared that Korean developments demonstrate the "inevitable necessity" of his program.

The non-Communist world, said Hoover, is faced with three possible courses if it would have peace. They are:

1. "Shall it go to war to wipe communism from the face of the earth? My answer is 'No.'"

That undoubtedly would be the consensus of observers, as I see it. As a matter of fact you can't kill an ideology by war, unless you wipe out every mother's son who fancies it. The only way to counter an ideology is by representing a better ideology.

2. "Should we return to the illusion that the Kremlin has changed its gospel and will work for world peace through the United Nations? That would seem futile."

One of the cardinal tenets of communism is that the ideology must be spread by revolutionary force. The establishment of a Red government must be accompanied by an upheaval, to impress the proletariat.

There hasn't been the slightest indication of any change in the Kremlin's program. And all Moscow's relations with the U.N. have been calculated to further Communist aims.

3. "Shall we try to build the United Nations so as to confine communism to the peoples already enslaved, stop military aggression and trust to time for this evil to abate? My answer is 'Yes!'"

In this third alternative is the highly-controversial idea of reorganizing the U.N. so as to exclude the Reds and confine it to the democracies. That would be recognition of the fact that, to all intents and purposes, we already are divided into two worlds—democracy and communism. The ideal of one world is a long, long way off.

Having taken this drastic step we should, I judge, continue to block the advance of communism through aggression by defending the victims like southern Korea with military force. The democracies—if they stand together—have the balance of power economically and militarily. It is well known that many of the Red satellites are being kept in line by force. There are indications that they would welcome a chance to escape, and resume their independence. If the Communist bloc is isolated it is likely in due course to wither on the vine. There are many students of the situation who hold that belief.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"SIZE," said the Elevator Man, "is still one of the most impressive things for mankind. Claiming a thing's biggest yet puts you 'way out in front.' And it's natural enough. Whether it's roses or mountains, wedding cakes or bombers, we like to be awed by giants. Size can get you into trouble, though. I see where a baker in Detroit has been hauled into court for making his loaves too big. Seems they have strict regulations on size there. A few years ago the same fellow was charged with making them too small. Just being average is safer in a case like that. Going up!"

"When a man wants to celebrate," said the Elevator Man, "he naturally throws a big party. And the bigger the party the bigger the celebration. But when a newspaper wants to celebrate it puts out a big edition, and some of them get pretty vast. I notice Calgary's 75th anniversary has brought out the 'biggest Calgary Albertan' in history. Enough reading matter there to last till the next anniversary. And it sure proves that newspapers are history books without covers. Anything you don't know about southern Alberta after reading that isn't worth knowing. Mezzanine!"

"Yes, sir," said the Elevator Man, "size has to have quality too if it's going to mean much. For instance, the ancient dinosaur that used to browse around the Calgary area had a body weighing tons but his brain was only the size of a walnut. That kept him out of the genius class. I sometimes wonder if Russia isn't getting into the same situation. There's a brain working overtime at the centre, but it isn't able to keep the big sprawling body on the same level of effort. The feet are dragging, and some day there may be nothing but footprints in the rock to remind us of what once marched by."

Canada Eyes All Soviet Moves While Aiding U.N. Korea Defence

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's government is worrying whether Korea means that Russia has embarked on a policy of sapping western strength in sideline satellite wars to soften the democracies for a gigantic blow by herself.

The possibility that Korea is part of a crisis-by-crisis build-up for a third world war has Ottawa, London and Washington in close consultation on every scrap of evidence emerging from behind the Iron Curtain.

This fear, it is understood, underlines their views on the Korean situation itself—generally regarded as alarming in a local sense—on disposition of Canadian forces internally and on further aid to the United Nations in Korea.

At a two-and-a-half-hour cabinet meeting Wednesday, Canada formally turned three destroyers over to United Nations' command to fight in Korea waters, but only in that specific war.

Salmon Landings In B.C. Very Fair

Salmon landings at B.C. ports have been very fair so far, Gordon Barrie, fisheries inspector here, reports.

He said a large fleet of Canadian boats now was fishing off Vancouver Island's west coast and in Hecate Strait.

The boats are getting mostly springs, which fetch 35 cents a pound, but a few coho are now showing. Price paid for coho is 20 cents a pound. They will increase in numbers now through to September.

The destroyers Cayuga, Athabaskan and Sioux arrived at Pearl Harbor naval base just as the cabinet was making its decision. They will go into Korean action with U.S. task force "Tokyo" under the general command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, flying the blue and white U.N. flag as well as the White Ensign.

Both Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson stressed that the destroyers would be available only for U.N. police action against anti-Communist aggression in Korea. Mr. Pearson told a press conference they could not, for instance, be used to support U.S. forces blocking Chinese Communists from an invasion of Formosa, last stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists.

Mr. Pearson said no other form of Canadian aid to Korea is contemplated at this time. Parliament would be recalled if steps were needed to send any other military force beyond a bit more naval aid. Canada will have to supply and maintain her destroyers in the Korean area and for this may have to send reserves into the area.

IN TWO STAGES
The question of further aid to South Korea is seen here as a two-stage affair. The next two or three weeks may decide whether the U.S. forces are going to be able to work some sort of stability at the battle front. If they do, then will come a build-up stage to throw the Communists back where they belong. This could go on for months. It might take six weeks even to launch the offensive.

The Canadian government is examining its resources to see what it can do if and when the long-term build-up phase develops.

Underlining that examination is the fear that Russia is attempting to drain western strength on satellites like North Korea so she can better deliver her own knockout blow.

That is believed to be one reason the navy has not moved its Atlantic fleet into the Pacific and why there is no sign yet that Canada is even thinking of sending ground forces. It also underlies the quiet bolstering of the anti-aircraft defences around the Sault Ste. Marie canal.

Canada has been kept informed of the Russian-British talks about Korea and her officials are sharing in a general attempt to assess what they mean.

Russia's Andrei Gromyko, it is understood, adopted a friendly attitude towards Britain's ambassador, Sir David Kelly, an attitude that has western capitals puzzled.

THE HOME GARDEN

Store Young Beans In Brine For Winter Use

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Beans are one of the easiest vegetables to preserve for winter use.

Of course, a number of gardeners will be using the deep-freeze method of storage, but for those without these facilities the old-fashioned method of preserving in brine is a simple substitute.

All that is needed is a 5-gallon earthenware crock with a lid, or a wooden cover. The brine is derived from coarse agricultural salt (not block salt) obtainable from feed merchants.

Any of the climbing or bush beans—may be used, and the varieties can be mixed if necessary, but it is essential that they be picked while young and tender.

Start with a half-inch layer of salt over the bottom of the crock, and follow with a layer of sliced beans. Future pickings may be added from time to time as available.

When large pickings are to be had, a layer of salt is used to each two inches of beans. However, the home gardener may sprinkle a little salt over each picking, regardless of depth.

KEEP BEANS SUBMERGED

Pressure is used to start the brine and to keep the beans submerged. This is accomplished by using a china plate weighted down with a preserving jar of stones.

After 12 hours the salt should be in partial solution, and if not, the brine is started by adding a half measuring cup of cold water.

Some housewives say the beans are tough and salt when prepared for the table. Toughness is the result of using beans which are past their prime, or because of soaking them too long before cooking.

Soak the beans for two hours only—not over night—changing the water every 20 minutes. Boil for one hour, draining and refilling with boiling water after the first 30 minutes.

Prepared in this way, the flavor and texture of freshly-picked beans may be enjoyed until the beginning of April.

Seven Big Gasoline Tanks Burn In Oklahoma Town

FAIRVIEW, Okla. (AP)—An unexplained explosion Wednesday set fire to seven huge gasoline and kerosene storage tanks in this northwest Oklahoma town of 2,400.

At least 15 persons were injured.

For a time the flames threatened the town.

The fire was brought under control in two hours, then allowed to burn itself out.

A damage estimate is not available.

Two of the tanks were perforated with rifle bullets to allow gasoline to escape.

Gasoline ran down a railway right of way and ignited three freight cars.

Three warehouses, housing thousands of barrels of oil, were destroyed.

Elder Statesmen, 5-Star Generals Advise Truman

In Forming Korean And Allied Policies President Relies On Men Of Experience

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman is relying heavily on the advice of retired elder statesmen and five-star generals to meet grave problems stemming from the Korean war.

The former diplomatic and military leaders also are being consulted by the State and Defense Departments and other government agencies.

The line-up includes former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Gen. George C. Marshall, one-time army chief and later Secretary of State, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, former chief of staff who led victorious Allied armies in Europe during World War II.

Informants disclosed that Secretary of State Dean Acheson visited Hull at his hotel to get his views on the Korean crisis and possible moves on the diplomatic front.

Mr. Truman also discussed the Korean situation a week ago at a luncheon meeting at Blair House with Marshall and Eisenhower. Gen. Omar N. Bradley and Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, two of the top active defense leaders, attended the meeting.

To meet emergency problems, the State Department also has its two ace experts on Russia working overtime with Acheson's top policy planning staff. These men are George F. Kennan, who was to have retired as State Department counselor July 3, and Charles E. Bohlen, U.S. minister to France, who has been recalled from his Paris post.

Urgent problems up for emergency consideration were said by informants to include:

Mobilization—Should the administration order industrial and manpower mobilization? It is almost certain the Korean war will demand a decided shift of the American economy from a peacetime footing with new military spending of billions of dollars.

Tactics—What should the United States do if the Communists continue their victorious march to the tip of the Korean Peninsula, forcing a Dunkirk withdrawal to Japan? Also, what should be done if the North Koreans eventually are repulsed and driven back to the 38th parallel but do not stop fighting?

Deaths From Bootlegged Illuminating Gas In Vancouver Bring Warning, Inquiry

VANCOUVER (CP)—Bootlegging of gas in Vancouver has been one of the principal causes of 133 accidental deaths since 1942, says Plumbing Inspector Reginald Startup.

He was speaking to a special committee which has been set up to investigate the alarming number of deaths from illuminating gas.

Dr. Stewart Murray, city medical health officer, said the number of accidental gas deaths is climbing almost every year, far out of proportion to the deaths from the same cause in other cities.

In Toronto from 1947 to 1949, 26 persons died from this cause, compared with 68 in Vancouver.

"Things have reached an alarming stage when more people have died from poisonous gas in the city so far this year than have been killed in traffic accidents," Dr. Murray said. "Not counting suicides, we have had 18 gas deaths, while there have been 11 traffic deaths."

Mr. Startup said there are four times as many meters going into homes in Vancouver than there are permits for, creating a dangerous situation.

"Too many people are doing their own plumbing," he said. "They are taking gas off a central main, shutting down the pressure or cutting it off entirely, and causing some burners to go off in other rooms in a house."

The committee decided that a maintenance clause in the gas-fitting by-law is an absolute necessity and that the inspectors must have more authority.

At the same time, an educational program on the dangers of gas should be launched, they said.

Saanich Roadside Stands Offer Fruit, Vegetables, Eggs

Mrs. Douglas Craig sets out freshly-picked raspberries to attract motoring public's casual trade on East Saanich Road in Elk Lake district.

Further along, in same area, 11-year-old Sharon Polson, left, and Mary Lynne Cleland, both of Royal Oak, look at eggs, vegetables for sale at another stand.

Roadside Stands Draw Business From Motorists

"Oh, mom, look at those luscious berries! Can I have some, please?"

Cries like that from the younger generation passengers in the passing parade of cars on the Saanich highways and byways that help to provide a good casual trade for Saanich residents with small holdings during the summer months.

There are scores of small and large roadside stands dotting the municipality these days. They contain baskets of the remainder of the strawberry crop. There are first pickings of the delayed raspberry crop, some loganberries, appetizing displays of cherries. Soon there will other forms of locally-grown fruit, plums, prunes and the first of the apple crops.

In a lot of the stands there are the current offerings of summer flowers for sale... fresh eggs... various types of "just dug" vegetables like peas, onions, beets and other things from the garden.

Some of the stand owners handle the customers personally. They don't stand by the roadside all day long trying to flag down motorists.

JETS SO FAST PRESENT MAPS OF LITTLE USE TO THEIR PILOTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian jet planes are so fast they are virtually flying off the map.

Defence officials said today the jets are so speedy that maps currently in use, drawn to a scale of about eight miles to the inch, are little use to them. They contain too much detail.

The department is considering obtaining maps of a different type with less detail. However, a new set of aerial maps for the whole of Canada would be so expensive a job that the department is weighing all factors before deciding to make a change.

One difficulty with existing maps is that a jet pilot travels at such high altitudes and high speeds that he runs off the map before he can fix on a landmark.

Home-Building Drops All Across Canada In First Quarter Of Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Fewer new homes were started and fewer completed in April and in the first four months of this year than in the corresponding periods of 1949, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

But the number of houses under construction at the end of April still was higher than at the end of the corresponding month last year. The total was 50,775, an increase of about 2,000. Part of the increase was due to Newfoundland's inclusion in the 1950 figures.

No reason was given for the drop in the number of starts and completions but Resources Minister Winters said recently that skyrocketing lumber prices and a shortage of lumber were responsible for a decline in home construction.

The bureau said completions in April were estimated at 5,397 units, compared with 7,251 in April, 1949. This made a total of 23,270 completions for the first four months of the year, compared with 25,077.

Starts in the month numbered 7,422 compared with 8,466 a year ago. In the four months, they totaled 16,437 against 16,682.

Completions in April were lower in all regions except British Columbia. In the four months, they were higher in Quebec and New Brunswick and lower in the other provinces. In Quebec, they were 8,341 against 6,778 and in New Brunswick 583 against 378.

In Ontario completions declined to 7,554 from 8,725; Nova Scotia to 839 from 1,085; Manitoba to 995 from 1,225; Saskatchewan to 465 from 500; Alberta to 2,219 from 3,023, and British Columbia to 2,059 from 3,253. Completions in Newfoundland, which entered confederation a year ago, totaled 99.

Monasteries To Be Hospitals

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UP)—A Communist government commission has approved plans to convert nine Roman Catholic monasteries in Prague into schools, hospitals and "cultural and social centres," the official news agency CTK said here. The news agency said the commission also had approved similar disposition of "many other" Catholic monasteries in other Czech cities.

Bennett, Jackson Score Net Upsets

Hank Bennett and Rex Jackson, sixth and seventh seeded, respectively, provided the major upsets in Wednesday's play of the city tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

Bennett, on leave from the Royal Canadian Air Force and city champion here in 1946 and 1947, ousted Carl Brand, 6-1, 7-5, while Jackson took the measure of third-ranked Peter Peacock, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, in quarter-final matches.

Favored Jack Milledge had a tough struggle before subduing Jack Butt in another quarter final match. Milledge dropped the first set 6 to 0 but came back to take the second 6-4. Butt rallied to tie the score at 5-5 in the third set but Milledge hung on to take the decider, 8-6.

Henri Deaullles continued his giant killing role by breezing past fourth-seeded Darryl Thompson, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Costner Pulls Surprise Win Over Champion

Emerges Contender For Robinson's Welterweight Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Ike Williams was expected to use George (Sugar) Costner as a stepping stone to a welterweight title fight with Ray (Sugar) Robinson. Instead, the lanky Costner thrashed lightweight champ Williams and emerged himself as a top contender for Robinson's crown.

Costner turned in the fistic upset of the year last night when he handed Williams one of the worst lickings the 135-pound titleholder ever received. The Camden, N.J., negro smashed Ike into submission in a 10-round non-title scrap at Shibe Park.

So superior was Costner that one of the judges, Frank Knarsborough, gave the winner all 10 rounds. The other judge, Lou Tress, and referee Dave Beloff were not much kinder. Both scored it 8-2 for Costner.

A crowd of 9,809 paid a net gate of $30,543 to see "Sugar" George Williams with a vicious left hook in the third round and then go on to record a thumping triumph. Williams never was the same after that third-round punch. He fought the final seven rounds on his fighting instinct and courage.

Like the champion he is, Williams rallied briefly in the seventh round and looked for a minute as if he would do the impossible and kayo Costner. He rocked George with a left hook—but he hadn't the stamina to follow up his opening and Costner regained the offensive.

Costner, 3-to-1 underdog in the betting, weighed 148, five more than Williams. He used his edge on the scales to good advantage.

BITING SERVICE—Jack Bromwich appears to be taking a bite out of the ball, returning service by Philadelphia's Vic Seixas in All-England lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon. Seixas defeated the Australian, 6-1, 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

Victory Happy LaMotta Must Get Ready To Fight Robinson

NEW YORK (UP)—Gentleman Jake LaMotta, fresh from a decision victory over Tiberio Mitri, was uncertain today about his next middleweight title opponent—but the National Boxing Association was positive that opponent would be Sugar Ray Robinson—"or else."

The "new" LaMotta, a gracious boxing-master in the ring, gave Mitri of Italy a lopsided 15-round beating for a 24th birthday present last night before a surprisingly large crowd of 16,369 at Madison Square Garden.

Gross receipts of $99,841 established America's largest fight gate of 1950, and proved to some observers that the main things wrong with boxing today are television and radio. The bout was neither televised nor broadcast in the United States.

Bull-shoaled Jake of New York, who formerly concentrated on a slam-bang, wild-hooking attack, resorted to smart boxing as he jabbed and hooked toward a unanimous decision over the amateurish challenger, who never had been defeated before. Only three draws had marked Mitri's previous 52 professional bouts.

CROWD STUNNED
At 29, the new LaMotta not only gave a boxing exhibition, but he flabbergasted the crowd on two occasions by his Little Lord Fauntleroy sporting gestures.

Mitri, almost fell when he missed with a left hook in the second round. Instead of taking advantage of Tiberio's mishap, Jake stepped back and raised his gloves in a beg-your-pardon gesture. He acted similarly in a later session when handsome, brown-haired Tiberio slipped in a corner.

Only once did Jake forget his new script. That was in the fifth round when he suddenly thrust his arms down at his sides, stuck out his chin like an ape-man, and snarled "Come on, you so and so!"

Mitri claimed he had looked amateurish because an injured left hand prevented his blocking and jabbing. He said he had injured a hand-bone in the first round. His fist was swollen in the dressing room.

Although there were no knock-downs, Mitri was practically "out on his feet" in the eighth and 10th rounds as the result of head batterings. And he was groggy in other sessions. At the finish he was badly gashed beneath the right eye, and slightly gashed beneath the left. And there were big purple moles beneath each eye.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

That $900 loss reported by Victoria United on its inter-city football operations for last season is the best proof in the world that a new deal is called for before the Coast League squad opens its 1950-51 campaign. Either the local team will have to make better financial arrangements with the circuit or launch a campaign to build up greater spectator interest. A live-wire booster club might be the answer. One thing is certain—the intercity team cannot continue operating if it is going into the hole every season to the extent of nearly a $1,000.

Weather Conditions No Excuse

Some soccer officials will counter with the argument that last winter was an exceptional one in regards to weather conditions. Soccer has to make allowances for disrupted schedules owing to climatic conditions but still can't go so badly into the red. For reasons unknown to the writer the intercity games here have never drawn crowds in comparison to the city's population. Crowds of 1,000 are something special rather than ordinary.

Could be the trouble is that Victoria has never boasted a club that could be counted on as a definite contender. If the United could get the out-and-out support of all the players this city could field a team capable of making a strong bid for the championship. That is one thing the club must do—get the soccer interests in the city behind the intercity eleven. I know there's a number of people who hold to the opinion the intercity club is bad for the game here. They claim it works too great a hardship on the regular league clubs.

Material Available Here

The intercity team is a definite asset to Victoria. It provides the city with a first-class major winter sport and everything should be done to keep it alive and active. New blood has been injected into the executive and maybe they will come up with the answer. The player material is available in Victoria to strip a strong club. And with a good minor association in operation here the player future of the intercity club should be guaranteed. It's just a question of getting everybody to pull together. That should not be too difficult.

He's A Colorful Character

One of sports' most colorful characters will be in Victoria over the week-end when A. B. (Happy) Chandler, commissioner of baseball, pays a flying visit during the course of a vacation in the Pacific Northwest. A hail-fellow-well-met, Chandler has done a good job since taking over the reins in 1945 from the late Judge Landis. In recent years Happy has had several tough problems dumped right in his lap and disposed of them with diplomatic finesse. His handling of the controversy that developed when negroes made their entrance into organized baseball was one case in point. There is little doubt that Chandler will get another fat seven-year contract when his present term expires come December.

Victoria-Owned Entry Winner At Lansdowne

VANCOUVER (CP)—Perchene won the first victory for Home Field Stables by taking the opening race at Lansdowne Park here Wednesday. Home Field Stables is owned by Ralph and Tod Callbeck of Victoria, who switched this year from jumping horses to thoroughbreds. The bay led all the way to pay $9.20 to win, $6.75 to place and $4.10 to show. Lamohr came with a rush to win the second half of the daily double, which paid $34.40.

Richmond Hurls One-Hitter As Moose Take Second

Jocelyn Richmond hurred a one-hitter at North Saanich last night as Moose latched on to the runner-up post in the Women's Softball League with an 11 to 2 triumph over the suburban squad.

The only blow garnered by North Saanich came in the sixth inning when Sheila English's ground ball bounced off first base for a triple.

Moose scored six runs in the third inning and five in the fourth to overcome a 2 to 0 lead by North Saanich.

Tonight, Allsorts will meet Toppers at Central Park at 6.30.

Top score follows: R. H. E. North Saanich 2 1 1 Moose 11 8 0 Agnes Pearson and Audrey Pearson; Richmond and McRae.

He's Popular Fellow

With adults and children alike, big John Marshall, ace hurler of the Victoria Athletics, is a favorite. The pitcher autographs a glove for 11-year-old Maurice Spouse.

Tired Tiremen No Match For Sluggett

The Douglas Tire softball team expended all its energy in three exhibition games over the week-end and had nothing in reserve to show in their game with Brentwood Aces last night, and as a result went down to defeat, 8 to 3.

Brian Sluggett again silenced the potent bats of the Tiremen and except for the third inning when the Tire dealers picked up three straight hits, including a triple by Jimmy Morrison, he was in complete command.

Sluggett just kept serving up his "teaser" pitch and no one could get a solid part of the wood on the ball.

Aces batted first and scored twice before the third out on a single by Ronnie Benn that drove in Frank Kilshaw and brother Willie Benn. Douglas Tire got both runs back in the third. Flori Goegan singled after two were out. Garnet drove a long fly out to right field that John Furmston just got his glove on. Furmston kicked the ball around before he got it back to the infield, but Goegan was on the bench and Garnet was resting on third base. Morrison parked the ball out under the trees in left field, and Garnet came in with the second run of the game for the Tiremen.

MARTIN GOES IN

Alan Senior, the starting pitcher for the losers was relieved by Norm Martin in the fourth inning after he had walked Jim Turner, lost Brian Sluggett on an attempted force play at second base and given up a double to Phil Benn.

Kilshaw greeted Martin with a single, and Hal Yardley followed with a hit to plate two more runs. Kilshaw picked up the fourth run in the inning when he scored after W. Benn's fly to centre.

FILCHOCK REINSTATED

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League today lifted the indefinite suspension he placed on Frank Filchock three years ago.

Filchock, a former backfield star for New York Giants, was suspended by the league in 1947 for failing to report a bribe offer.

Clothiers Win

Fletcher's Men's Wear defeated Noble's Contractors, 6 to 5, in a senior division Minor Baseball Association game last night. Norm Forbes was the winning pitcher and Dale Carter the loser.

Douglas Tire got one back in the eighth when Vic Dale and Ken Gutter hit successive singles. Dale completed the circuit on a wild pitch and an infield out to put his team three runs back at 6 to 3.

The suburbanites moved further ahead in the top of the ninth when three hits, one a double by R. Benn, and an error to Dale on a play at the plate were enough for the Aces to add two runs to their total.

Short score follows: R. H. E. Brentwood Aces 8 12 2 Douglas Tire 3 8 2 Sluggett and J. Turner; Senior, Martin (4) and Milliken.

A's Southpaws Suffer Mauling

By PETE SALLAWAY

Electing to throw left-handed pitching against the Yakima power, Victoria Athletics staggered out of Athletic Park last night after suffering a horrible 20 to 6 shellacking to wind up their W.L.L. series all even at two victories apiece. With around 4,500 in the stands on the occasion of the season's second ladies' night, the local club saw fit to experience its worst defeat of the campaign.

With Tri-City due in today for a four-game stand and noted for its power from the left side of the plate Manager Marty Krug's selection of southpaw Jim Hedgecock as last night's starter is hard to explain. The choice was even more of a surprise with righthander Ronnie Smith ready to take his turn.

Without trying to second guess the A's manager, he appeared to make his second mistake of the night in relieving with still another lefty, Jim Probst in the fourth inning with the tying and what proved to be the winning run on the bags. Boasting anything but good control Probst lived to his reputation with his usual wild streak and to make matters worse his defense collapsed back of him.

NOYES NO BETTER

Warren Noyes was the third Victoria pitcher to see action, taking over from Probst in the sixth and he was no better than his predecessors, being bothered with bad control and having his ears pinned back when he did manage to get the ball over the plate.

All in all it was a nightmare for the A's. The club gave up seven unearned runs on the strength of four errors. And believe it or not, the Victoria club was out in front 6 to 0 after two innings with the fans all set for an enjoyable evening. Then the roof fell in. With two away in the third Yakima got to Hedgecock for three hits good for as many runs. Taking to Hedgecock's offerings like ducks to water, the Bears continued their batting spree in the fourth and greeted reliever Probst with the same treatment. Before the third man was out five runs had drifted across the plate giving Yakima an 8 to 6 margin. Second baseman Jimmy Moore's boot of a double play throw from shortstop Bill Dunn set up four more runs for the Bears in the fifth and the ball game was beyond recall.

On the bright side of the picture, if one could call it that, was Gene Thompson's home run with two aboard in Victoria's five-run uprising in the second; Marty Krug's three doubles for a perfect night at the plate and outfielder Bob McGuire's two beautiful catches off Lou Novikoff and Rene Chese during the Yakima rally in the fourth.

In passing it must be mentioned that Novikoff, Will Tiesiera and Frank Mascaro clouted home runs for Yakima. Altogether the Bears picked up nine extra base blows.

West Heat Batters Display Power

The home run bats of Nohr and Harold Bates boomed last night as West Heat defeated Yarrow, 13 to 5, in a Men's Senior B softball game. Bates hit two round trippers for the fuel dealers and Nohr one. George Kaye got the win allowing the dockyarders seven hits. Rom Knott and Alf Aspinall worked for the losers.

Australians In Trouble Drawing Up Health Plan

B.M.A. Approves New Scheme But Sections Of Public And Most Pharmacists Oppose

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Australia is still seeking a medical benefits scheme which will satisfy everybody, or nearly everybody.

The scheme proposed by the Labor government last year was boycotted by the British Medical Association in Australia. Certain clauses were held unconstitutional by the high court and the plan died a natural death.

Now Health Minister Sir Earle Page of the Coalition government has outlined another scheme. With only the briefest explanation of it, several sections of the public and the pharmacists are strongly opposed.

The B.M.A., however, has accepted the main principles. Briefly, they are:

1. Free provision of "life-saving" drugs (undefined, but probably including penicillin, the sulfa-drugs and insulin.)

2. A government subsidy for medical attention insurance.

3. Administration of the scheme through fraternal societies and medical insurance organizations.

Few details of the proposal have been disclosed, but it is believed a person wishing to participate will have to join a society or insurance organization, paying about three shillings (45 cents) a week.

The society, with the help of the government subsidy, will pay up to 50 per cent of the member's medical bills. The remainder will be paid by the member, to avoid a certain amount of abuse and waste.

In addition to his weekly payment to the society, the individual will continue to pay his social service tax, originally intended for the Labor Party plan and continued when the plan failed.

Most public protests to the new scheme are based on the idea that the social service tax should be enough to secure the benefits without the need of a weekly insurance payment as well. There also appears to be an aversion to disclosing details of medical attention to fraternal organizations.

The pharmacists are greatly opposed to the plan because, they say, it will give dispensaries run by the fraternal societies an unfair advantage.

Sir Earle Page defends the scheme on two grounds. He says it is assured the support of the Medical Association. It also emphasizes self-help by forcing the individual to assume part of the cost.

He says his plan will emphasize preventive steps, such as diet and X-ray examinations for the early detection of tuberculosis.

He claims these are more important than pills and potions. But, as it stands now, the scheme is not going to be accepted unopposed.

CHARGED WITH plotting bank hold-ups is Detective Lieut. Marcel Patenaude, chief of Quebec Provincial Police hold-up squad. He and two others, a detective sergeant and a former provincial policeman, were charged on information laid by J. L. Leclerc, insurance adjuster, whose company was responsible for losses of $13,000.—(CP Photo)

Big Synchrotron Soon To Be Used Against Cancer

LONDON (Reuter)—British scientists are shortly to use a 30,000,000-volt synchrotron, which produces gamma and X-rays of high energy and penetrating power, in the treatment of cancer cases.

Announcement was made Wednesday in the annual report of the British Empire Cancer Campaign, central body co-ordinating cancer research throughout the Commonwealth. It said research into the use of radioactive material against cancer is "growing apace."

The report added that at the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, during the last year, 23 cancer patients, considered beyond normal surgical radiation methods, had been treated experimentally with the 25,000,000-volt betatron—an improvement on the atom-smashing cyclotron which fires off radioactive particles at tremendous speeds.

Conclusions on the treatment were not yet available. The synchrotron, only machine of its kind devoted exclusively to cancer work, has been "running very satisfactorily" for the last year at the Royal Cancer Hospital in London on experimental work. It would shortly be used clinically.

Using X-rays of more than 17,000,000 volts, researchers at the hospital had succeeded in making animal tissue radioactive. But the induced radiation was too small to be of significance in the conditions studied.

Protestant Church Bishop Fears 'Korea' In Germany

TORONTO (CP)—Bishop K. F. Otto Dibelius, head of the Evangelical Church in East and West Germany, said Wednesday that the political situation in Germany is exactly the same as in Korea. What happened in Korea might also happen in Germany.

The 69-year-old head of the strongest Protestant Church in Germany, who is attending the central committee meeting of the World Council of Churches here, said at a press conference:

"The duty of the United Nations now is to find the solution so that the Korean people can come together. This is true not only in Korea, but elsewhere in other nations where a similar situation exists."

Comparing Germany to Korea, he said: "One part is under Communist rule, the other is influenced by the western powers. What the people of the world must realize is that it is impossible to divide a nation by an unnatural frontier, an iron curtain. This nation will always wish to come together again and be united. You cannot draw one side away from the other—maybe for a few years, but not for long."

The bishop, a foe of communism who was imprisoned during the Second World War as a leader in the church resistance against the Nazis, said that "the Christian life of the church—particularly church attendance—in east Germany is making progress, especially among the young people."

At its sessions today the central committee adopted a budget of $365,000 for 1951. Of this, $240,000 is expected from United States churches, $75,000 from churches in other countries and $50,000 from a Rockefeller foundation grant. Canadian churches are expected to contribute $10,000.

Regulation Of Traffic Lights Not Possible

Auto Club Claimed Too Many Stops

Present equipment makes it impossible for traffic lights on Government Street to be synchronized to speed up through traffic, Ken Reid, head of the city's street lighting department, made known today.

The lights now in use on the main westerly thoroughfare were purchased more than 10 years ago, Mr. Reid said. The motors they have are not designed for synchronization.

Mr. Reid's explanation of the traffic control picture followed criticism Wednesday from the Victoria Automobile Club, which complained traffic lights on Government necessitated too much stopping and starting.

The club felt lights on Government should be regulated in the same way as lights on Douglas Street. The Douglas Street lights have proper synchronizing motors.

To have the Government Street lights work in sequence would require either the purchase of modern-type lights or the setting up of an elaborate overhead or underground cable system.

Either would be a costly undertaking and would not be advisable at the present time, said Mr. Reid.

There are three intersections on Government, where traffic is regulated by stop-and-go lights. These are at Johnson, Yates and Fort.

Good Progress In Laying New Water Pipe

Good progress is being made on the laying of the new, big water pipe between Japan Gulch and Thetis Lake Road, the Great Victoria Water Board reports.

which is manufacturing pipe, has already met half of its 1950 contract obligation, and the Fred Mannix Construction Co. Ltd., which is laying the pipe, reports work about one-third of the way to completion.

The construction company recently has had minor trouble in digging along the Island Highway opposite the Colwood Golf Course. The ground in this part is mostly gravel and construction crews have had to put in cribbing in order to keep the sides of the ditch from crumbling in.

This development has not caused any noticeable delay, however, and it is fully expected the entire section of pipe will be in place by Oct. 1.

B.C. To Join Seattle Conference On Civilian Defence Of West Coast

B.C. will play a major role in plans to be formulated at Seattle next week for closely-knit civilian defence of the west coast of the continent.

Premier Byron Johnson announced today provincial government and municipal officials will attend meetings planned in the Puget Sound city between the U.S. government and the Civil Defence Department at Ottawa.

The meetings, to start Monday, are expected to last four or five days.

COMMITTEE FORMED

Among those attending from B.C. will be members of a provincial civilian defence committee which the Premier has set up under the ministerial direction of Hon. W. T. Straith, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education.

The committee is headed by R. A. Pennington, deputy provincial secretary and wartime captain in the Canadian navy at Ottawa.

Members of the provincial organization which will be expanded when the overall plan is laid down, include Dr. G. F. Amyot, deputy minister of health; Evan Jones, deputy minister of public works, and Percy C. Richards, executive assistant to Premier Johnson.

Mr. Richards will act as liaison officer between the committee and the Premier.

B.C. Police will have a representative at the Seattle meetings in the person of Sub-Inspector Carl Ledoux and it is expected Victoria will be represented by Mayor Percy George, and Vancouver by Chief Constable Walter Mulligan.

The Seattle talks will centre mainly on possibilities of atomic bombing of the area. It is expected chemical warfare will be discussed as well.

FIRST-HAND REPORT

First-hand report of the mishap was received here today when 16-year-old Doug Park, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Park, phoned his mother from Quebec.

He said he was safe and unhurt and was staying at the Chateau Frontenac with Fraser Wallace, Vancouver, and another B.C. boy. The boys were members of a party of 55 Canadian youths starting on a trip to Britain sponsored by industrialist Garfield Weston, and arranged through the Y.M.C.A.

Mrs. Park said Doug told her no one was injured or below decks after the grounding, and as a result, passengers were taken ashore wearing just what they had on when the incident occurred.

SWATSHIRT, SLACKS

The grade 12 Mount View High School student told his mother he sat on the deck of a tug for about two hours before getting ashore. All the clothing he had on was a pair of slacks and a sweatshirt. Though the grounding was at 9.50 Wednesday night, he did not board the tug till 3 this morning.

He said an attempt was to be made this afternoon by shipping company representatives to bring personal effects and baggage ashore.

The telephone call from Quebec, incidentally, was collect. "Naturally," laughed Mrs. Park, adding she was relieved to hear from her son.

Auto Club Wants Improved Road To Mount Tolmie

Because of the popularity of old-time dancing in Victoria it is probably there will be competitors from here for the western, square dance and old-time music vocalists' and instrumentalists' $15,000 competition at the Pacific National Exhibition at Vancouver. The contest dates are August 23 to 26 inclusive.

The World Championship Western Music Roundup is divided into open and amateur classes with grouping as four-piece and larger square dance orchestras; western vocal groups of duos, trios or quartettes, male and female singles, barbershop quartette, old-time fiddlers with special grouping for those 50 and over; square dance callers and 50 years and up old-time square dance units.

First prize of $1,000 is offered in the world open for the square dance orchestras, western vocalists and single male or female.

Ten Victorians' Voyage Delayed

Mount View Student, Nine Others Off Ss. Franconia Now In Quebec

At least 10 Victorians today are staying at Quebec's famous Chateau Frontenac—their long-awaited Atlantic crossing stymied at least for the present.

They were among the more than 800 passengers aboard the liner Franconia when she grounded on the Isle of Orleans Wednesday night.

A check of travel agents in Victoria listed the nine residents of this city, but it is possible there are more.

The local people known to have been on the Franconia were: Mrs. D. A. Kennedy, 2532 Orchard Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Johnston and their daughter, Miss P. K. Johnston, 1063 Belmont Avenue; Miss Ruth Brown, 1725 Adanac Street; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. M. Hunter, 3915 Tudor Avenue; Miss Jean Wilcox, 3368 Salsbury Way; a Capt. E. Paterson and Douglas Park, 224 Maddock Street West.

Miss Wilcox daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilcox, was on her way to tour the British Isles and Eprope.

TRAVEL AGENTS BUSY

Local agents were kept busy answering questions from citizens who have future bookings on the big liner, but were unable to give any answers. They expect to be advised as to plans by the Cunard-Donaldson Line, owners of the Franconia.

It was reported the company is now trying to make arrangements to transport the stranded passengers to Britain in other ships.

FIRE, WRECK IN 1 DAY FOR VICTORIANS

That troubles come in bunches probably is the contention of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. M. Hunter of 3915 Tudor Avenue.

Their Ten-Mile Point home was entered early Wednesday morning and a fire, believed caused by a cigarette butt left by the intruder, caused $1,500 damage.

The Hunters were not at home, however. They were in Quebec preparing to sail for England. Within a few hours of the fire, they were aboard the liner Franconia—stuck fast on a St. Lawrence River rock.

Recommendation that a three-phase scheme for life-saving and coast guard duties be inaugurated in Canada was made to federal authorities Wednesday by a special committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

For the past two years, the committee, under chairmanship of T. G. Denny, has been studying the coast guard situation in Canada.

The committee voiced its satisfaction over the recent announcement in which the operation of all government ships will be co-ordinated for life-saving and rescue purposes under the jurisdiction of the R.C.A.F.

It was hoped this phase would develop into a carefully co-ordinated and efficient service for coastwise traffic on the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans and the Great Lakes.

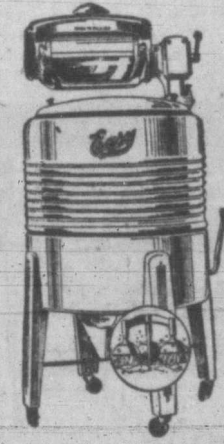

Hon. W. E. Harris, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, will arrive in Victoria Sunday and spend Monday touring the island.

Monday evening at 6.15 Mr. Harris will address a dinner meeting of the Laurier Club in Terry's dining-room.

This is the first visit of Mr. Harris to Victoria since he became minister. Prior to his appointment he was parliamentary assistant to the Prime Minister.

P.-T.A. Donates $100 To Playground
A donation of $100 was made to the Rosedale playground in Saanich this week by the Strawberry Vale Parent-Teacher Association. Presentation was made at the official opening ceremonies of the park Monday night.

Park was opened by Councillor A. C. Cummings of Saanich. The Esquimalt Salvation Army band was in attendance.

Unique Shop In The City
Built For The Fun Of It!

By PENNY SAVER

With the social editor on her holidays having wild and wonderful experiences far away on the eastern coast, I thought this would be a good time to play hookey! So, from the beaten track through grocery stores and dress shops I high-tailed it up Fort Street to visit one of this city's most mysterious and exciting shops. It's a happy hunting ground for the practical joker.

Tricksters will find everything from joke novelties, novelty books and boxed items, make-up disguise, magic and puzzles. Take masks, for instance. . . on second thought take two they're small. . . they're as life-like as any funster could possibly want. For $1.50 the choice of rubber half masks runs from the Yokums. . . the funny paper characters. . . including Lil' Abner, ma and pa Yokum, their friend Hairless Joe; Frankenstein, ferocious looking pirates, complete with scars, and the Marx brothers, Chico, Harpo and Groucho. The pullover type of mask is priced at $2.50.

The rubber masks fit almost flush to your face and the longer you keep them on the more life-like they become.

In the course of the conversation the owner of the shop very kindly asked me if I wanted to use his pen. Well, Miss Gullible here, thanks him very kindly and proceeds to take the cover off the pen. Bang! Smoke, noise and what have you. In every direction. After I came down off the ceiling he told me it was one of their exploding pens costing $1.25. Out of a brilliant red tulip, which, from sheer curiosity you are bound to inspect, pops a lively little snake. He appears and disappears only because you have a squeeze bulb and rubber tube attached to the so-called flower in your hand. The set is 50 pennies.

Teen-agers frequent the shop to outfit their jalousies in ornaments and gadgets. The ever popular racoon tails are sold in the 50 and 75 cents sizes; bobbing birds, 35 cents, bouncing monkey and dolls, 50 pennies and the new all rubber monkeys and lizards 50 cents.

In the 50 cents price range you can take home such old stand-bys as a dribble glass, wobbly golf balls or chocolate bars that squirt.

To mix with your next box of chocolates, at a party that is, there is a box of dark rubber chocolates that guarantee a chomping good time, for 75 cents. Fun too is the spoon, that, after being used to stir your cup of tea or coffee, falls apart in the cup. Another spoon, at its best, planted in the sugar bowl, bends at the base of the stem. You'll never get the sugar to your cup, that's for sure.

One caution to all before you enter that sanctum. Be prepared for business. . . monkey business, that is!

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I am a middle-aged woman and I don't know whether I am just a victim of self-pity or am plain "touchy" about my friends. I have tried to play square and have never failed to help them in every emergency. I am worried when they are in trouble and put myself out to help them. But am I popular? No! Although I want to be in the swim of things I am just another woman who fills in at a luncheon or a card game. I don't click. Is it because I don't brag, shout, scream, say complimentary things to people's faces and catty things behind their backs? Tell me, does it pay to be a hypocrite, or to be true to one's ideals? I'd love to be popular, but although I have a few friends who are true to me I am never singled out or fussed over. Why is this? K.M.C.

Answer: If you have only one friend on whose faithfulness and affection you can depend, you are fortunate. If you have two or three whose hands you can reach out and touch in the dark, you are rich beyond the dreams of avarice. All of us have many pleasant acquaintances, men and women who are intelligent and agreeable and whose society we enjoy.

Last evening members of the Unity Basketball Team held a miscellaneous shower for one of their members, Miss Elaine Barry, who will marry Mr. John Allan Clark this weekend. Hostess was Mrs. Jack McCalfe, 129 Kingston Street. Club colors—gold and blue, were carried out in a decorated box holding shower gifts, and the bride-elect received a gardenia corsage bouquet. Her mother, Mrs. M. H. Barry, and sister of the groom-elect, Mrs. B. Plouffe, received carnation corsage bouquets. Attending were Mrs. D. Elliott, Mrs. W. Yeamans, and Misses Ev Slater, Lou Slater, Barbara Peterson and Shirley Knowlton.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

By MARGUERITE DALZIEL

Cocktail Suits Fashionable
Without Becoming Startling

The majority of women love to hear of the latest news in fashion circles—the very newest of elegant fabrics, brocades adorned with fur trims; all-over embroidered wools and crepes; brilliant colorings, and the off-times startling designs of well-known fashion experts.

But when it comes right down to what they want to wear themselves, it is another story.

While eastern and American centres are telling of extravagant cocktail suits that are being sported in the best of circles, they are also keeping in mind the customers who prefer attractive ensembles that feature the basic new trends and are distinctive without becoming startling.

Here in Victoria there are a number of beautiful imports to choose from.

In the cocktail suit line, the basic trend seems to be fine tailoring, and finely woven materials. Styles lean toward high buttoned necklines; three-quarter-sleeves, and slim skirts. A navy sheer cocktail suit, imported from New York, has an accompanying snow-white blouse of honeycombed nylon, with tiny collar, and brief sleeves. The suit itself is beautifully cut at the waistline and features trim piping on the turned back sleeve cuff. Sells for $69.50.

Cherry red shantung fashions a second elegant suit distinguished with tiny pleats edging a small rounded collar and repeated on pocket flaps. Tiny self buttons fasten the bodice from neckline to fitted waist, and sleeves are cuffed at three-quarter length. The skirt, too, follows pencil slim lines.

Domino blue, a new shade extremely popular in Europe is featured in a smart military suit of fine shantung. Gold buttons accent the double-breasted bodice, and the neckline is completed with trim lapels. Sleeves again are three-quarter length.

Both of these suits are listed at $59.50.

Playgrounds Essential In New Neighborhood Planning

OTTAWA (CP)—Playgrounds—where the very young ones are out from under mother's feet and at the same time safe from passing traffic—are becoming accepted as essential in the planning of new neighborhoods.

In the meantime there are many ways of turning the vacant lot in the older district into a children's paradise.

Officials of the health department's physical fitness division say the properly-equipped and well-supervised playgrounds contribute greatly to the fun, safety, health and character of children. Behavior and skills learned on the playground determine the leisure-time pattern of children for years to come.

The division has published a booklet filled with ideas for pre-school play areas, based on plans supplied by J. A. Dulude, commissioner of playgrounds for Ottawa.

The booklet recommends the city block playground—made up of "back-yard" land contributed by all block residents.

Such a block gives quick "kitchen-window" supervision and assures mother of junior's whereabouts.

Tots play in "back-yard" safety, free from the dangers of traffic, crossings, ditches or diversions. Mothers divide day-time duties of supervision and instruction and share in the resulting dividends of more leisure hours. Fathers co-operate in choosing and installing equipment.

Health Plan Studied By Woman Doctor

OTTAWA (CP)—A woman doctor has come from faraway India to study health and welfare in Canada.

Attractive Dr. Harbans Kaur Indarjit Singh, in Canada for six months on a United Nations Fellowship, spoke with interest during an interview, today of government and voluntary health and welfare organizations in Canada.

In India and in the province of East Punjab, where she is inspector of health centres, all health and welfare is government-controlled.

She said India eventually hopes to develop voluntary health and welfare organizations throughout the country. But, at the moment, providing its millions of population with food and housing is among its first objectives.

Dr. Singh said that in her country the population runs to 300 persons to an acre. And literacy is 5 per cent.

For two weeks Dr. Singh has been visiting health and welfare centres in the capital and talking to health department officials.

Before returning home she hopes to tour the country as far west as British Columbia.

'Teen-Age Film
Star Returns
To Stage

LONDON (CP)—Sally Ann Howes, teenage British film star, is going back to repertory theatre—to start all over again.

After only one year's run, the Rank organization allowed the option on her $50,000 ($155,000), seven-year contract to lapse, due to a financial crisis in the film industry.

With only one week's stage experience, Sally hit the headlines as child star of "Thursday's Child." Later she played in "Pink String and Sealing Wax" and "The History of Mr. Polly."

After making "Honey-moon Deferred" for an independent company, Sally has no further immediate film commitments.

"So I decided to start learning my job and the best way to do that seemed to be to start in rep," said Sally, the daughter of stage star Bobby Howes.

"Lots of people are in the same boat," she says. "You can't just sit and look sad."

Bare-Top Dresses
'Done To Death'

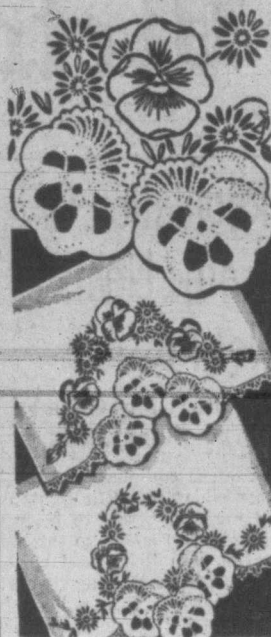

NEW YORK (CP)—West Coast designer Howard Shoup finds women "wonderfully confused" about what to wear to a cocktail party.

Tweeds and bare-top evening dresses often show up at the same party, and "both look terrible," said Mr. Shoup as he showed his fall collection here.

His recommendation is a simple dress-and-jacket ensemble—the dress low-cut, if desired, for possible dancing later—in a dark, rich fabric.

Incidentally, Mr. Shoup predicted a swing back to the covered-up look in evening dresses, even to long sleeves. The bare-top has been "done to death," he said.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Our food habits change somewhat with the seasons. We fill up on "heating" and energy foods during the wintertime and cut down on those during the summer. We can know pretty well what is proper to eat if we consume, in abundance, the foods grown during the summer season.

We recognized that children do not always have the judgment or discrimination to eat or drink what is good for them, but if left to their own devices will overeat of sweet foods, which are high in energy and heat qualities. They don't need those in hot weather.

In a morning a child may partake of two or three sweet cookies, a piece or two of candy, a soft drink, some popcorn, and then cannot be expected to look with eagerness on the nice lunch his mother had prepared for him. This can go on all afternoon, too; so that meals are spurned and the child eats and drinks to appease his appetite and make him "cool" but without giving him the proper balance of food elements.

It is well, since children are exposed to neighborhood influences, to lay down some rules about eating and drinking between meals, so as to end the persisting teasing which will drive a mother to give in to end the persecution.

Allow a piece of fruit and all the water the child wants mid-morning. Give some soft drink, or some fruitade in the afternoon. These are not calculated to upset the child's digestion or appetite for his regular meals.

If there are "heating" foods in winter there are "cooling" ones in summer and these are, principally, the fruits and vegetables grown at this season and replete with minerals and vitamins but low in calories.

Ready-cooked dry cereals, because of their lower caloric value, are ideal for summer, while the home-cooked ones can await the cooler weather. Meats should be lean and not highly seasoned, and foods without a high fat content will contribute fewer heat and energy units.

Our leaflet No. 10, "Care During the Summer" suggests the many ways that summer ills may be prevented. It may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred, care of this newspaper.

Shopping-Made-Easy Service Tried Out With Push Button

PEMBROKE, Ont. (CP)—Newest thing for busy housewives: Push-button shopping.

It's called Visomatic, a new shopping-made-easy service invented by Lawrence Freiman, head of an Ottawa department store (A. J. Freiman). It got its world debut in this Ottawa Valley town, 125 miles north of the capital.

By pushing a button, the shopper can see a kodachrome color picture of the goods she indicates. All this while she's comfortably seated and music plays in the background.

It was unveiled before magazine and newspaper writers from Canada and the United States. But housewives won't get a look until later at this slick counter-part of the mail-order office usually established by large department stores in small communities.

With Visomatic there is no mail order catalogue. A prospective buyer simply goes in and sits down in a comfortable, upholstered, air-conditioned booth faced by a screen. She indicates to an attendant what she wants to see anything from house dresses to jackknives—and the rest is easy.

MISS HELEN AND MISS MARJORIE BROWN

First Visit To City For Nurses

Two nurses who are visiting Victoria for the first time are full of enthusiasm for the scenic beauties of the coast.

They are Miss Helen and Miss Marjorie Brown, who came over to Victoria to be the guests of their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Scourrah, 19 King George Terrace, after attending the Canadian Nurses' Association convention in Vancouver from June 26 to 30.

"This is our first trip here and we are enjoying every minute of it," said Miss Marjorie Brown who is on the nursing staff of Toronto General Hospital.

Her sister is instructress of nurses at St. Catherine's General Hospital. They plan to take a few side-trips up-island before leaving for the east again July 23.

NEW COATS A LA DOORMAT

NEW YORK (AP)—The humble doormat becomes one of the important fashions of fall, 1950.

New York designers have started visiting fashion editors with their "doormat coats," made of a heavy, fuzzy fabric in dark grey or deep tan, neutral colors, worked into greatcoats that should be equal to any arctic winter.

Omar Kiam of the house of Ben Reig opened his show today with one of the bulky items in a deep charcoal grey, lined in bright plaid taffeta. It is a greatcoat cut full enough to wrap the figure like a cocoon, with big raglan sleeves cuffed at the wrist, flaring collar that can be turned up over the ears, and a general swash-buckling air.

Navy Man Of Ontario Claims Victoria Bride Tuesday

A full-skirted gown of rose lace poised over rippling taffeta was worn by Doreen Elsie Auchterlonie for her marriage Tuesday, to Donald Joseph Rasmussen of H.M.C.S. Ontario.

The daughter of Mrs. T. Newnham, 305 Huntington Place and the late R. H. (Laddie) Auchterlonie of Hope Bay, Pender Island, and the son of Mrs. C. W. Rasmussen and the late N. S. Rasmussen of Wetaskiwin, Alta., were united at an evening service, beneath a cluster of pink and white bells and streamers. Summer flowers with mauve and pink sweet peas and roses predominating, created the floral background.

T. Newnham gave his step-daughter in marriage. The bride's gown, styled with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline was worn with lace elbow-length mitts. A coronet of orange blossoms held the filmy pink chapel veil. The bride wore her groom's gift of pearls and pearl earrings and carried a shower bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and mauve sweet peas.

Mrs. H. J. Weber was her sister's matron of honor in pink lace net over taffeta with blue accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of white sweet peas and blue scabiosa. Another sister, Carol Newnham, was junior bridesmaid in a hoop-skirted frock of white taffeta. Her colonial bouquet was composed of pink carnations, sweet peas and blue scabiosa.

Cyril Schmitz, the groom's cousin was best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, 305 Huntington Place. The young couple received guests before a set-in-window decorated with bells and flowers.

A three-tier cake flanked by slender pink tapers in silver holders and vases of mauve and pink sweet peas centred the table. H. J. Weber, brother-in-law of the bride, proposed the toast.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver the bride wore a white gabardine shortie coat over her rose dress, with off-white accessories, and a corsage bouquet of Johanna Hill rosebuds. The newlyweds will make their home on Bughy Street.

Dinner Party For Parents

White bells and streamers decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sharrow, 653 Kelvin Road, when they entertained last night at a dinner party in honor of Mrs. Sharrow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lindsay, on the occasion of their 43rd wedding anniversary.

On arrival Mrs. Lindsay was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink roses and violets and Mr. Lindsay received a rose boutonniere. Dinner was served at lace-covered table centred with a large decorated cake, flanked by pink candles.

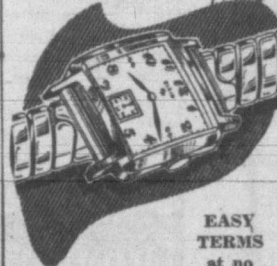

During the evening a gift was presented to the honor couple from the assembled guests: Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hay, Mrs. Louise Lowal, Mrs. J. E. Norris, Winnipeg, who, with her small sons, Lindsay and Cameron, are spending the summer in this city, and Miss Jean Lindsay, Mr. Bob Logan, Mrs. Frank Baillie and Mr. Arvid Bratt.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Love will be at home to friends and neighbors Saturday afternoon and evening at their home, 389 Davida Street, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. They were married at Kingston Parish Church, Glasgow, July 15, 1900, and came to Victoria in 1919. Mr. Love served for four and a half years with the 16th Canadian Scottish in the First World War.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"I'm an easy fellow to get along with," said Generous George. "I didn't come here to kill anyone, and I'm willing to give up a trick now and then."

"Don't think you're fooling anybody," East observed gruffly. "I just can't do anything about it. You simply stumbled on the right line of play."

George didn't argue about the "stumbling." Like old Omar Khayyam, he is willing to take the cash and let the credit go. East was correct, however, when he said that he couldn't do anything about it. George had managed to bring a difficult contract home by giving up the right trick.

West had opened the king of spades, dummy winning with the ace. The hand looked like a "Piano" as Generous George, playing the South cards, began to draw trumps.

When West discarded a club on the second round of trumps, George stopped abruptly. It was time for a little thought.

If South continued to draw all of East's trumps, he would then have only one trump left in his own hand. When he led diamonds the enemy would be able to lead a spade, forcing out the last trump. They would surely gain the lead with the second high diamond to cash the rest of their spades. Since South could not make 10 tricks without getting a diamond, it was clear that he could not afford to draw trumps.

After some thought, George decided to abandon the trumps. He switched to diamonds, and East won with the king. East returned a spade, and South ruffed with his low trump.

George won with the ace. West returned a third round of spades, and South was forced to ruff with the jack.

It was at this point that George generously led a third round of diamonds, allowing East to trump with the nine of hearts. George could have taken this trick away from East by drawing the trumps earlier, but as we have seen, drawing trumps would have cost him the contract.

After trumping the third round of diamonds, East was helpless. He returned a fourth spade, but dummy was able to ruff this trick. This, of course, was the reason George had abandoned the trumps. He wanted to leave one trump in dummy to act eventually as a barrier against the spades.

George re-entered his hand with the ace of clubs and could then afford to draw East's last trump. The rest of the tricks, of course, were easy.

Attorneys-General Expected To Set Date For Joint Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—A definite date for the general Dominion-provincial conference this fall—now tentatively scheduled for "September or October"—probably will be fixed after the committee of attorneys-general meets Aug. 21, a source close to the government said Wednesday.

That committee, formed at the Dominion-provincial constitutional conference last January, will study proposals for transferring from the United Kingdom to Canada the power to make all amendments to the Canadian constitution.

The source said the length of the committee's meetings and its progress may have a bearing on the date of the general conference.

All provinces have indicated they will attend the fall conference, although Premier Duplessis of Quebec has not stated definitely that his government will be represented. In correspondence so far made public, Mr. Duplessis has said:

"The Ottawa conference obviously involve a considerable amount of trouble and inconvenience for provincial authorities. Nevertheless we accept that with pleasure, when it results in greater prosperity and progress for the Canadian confederation and for the provinces of which it consists and which have given it birth."

He has indicated he would like to see the constitutional conference complete its work before a general conference is called to discuss financial and associate matters.

Other provinces have indicated they are prepared to go ahead regardless of the status of discussions on the procedure for making constitutional amendments.

British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Prince Edward Island have replied to a federal invitation to submit problems they would like to see placed on the agenda.

UNCLE RAY

There is a story which you might hear if you paid a visit to the city of Lund in southern Sweden. It is told about a cathedral there. Statues of a giant and a giantess stand with their stone arms wrapped around two pillars of the cathedral, as if they were ready to pull the pillars out of the place and make the roof fall down!

What is the reason for the strange position of those figures? This legend is supposed to explain it:

"The church was built during the Middle Ages, and the giant did the work. As a reward he was to be given the sun and the moon or—in case that was impossible—the eyes of a man named Laurentius.

"There was one condition of the promise. If Laurentius could discover the name of the giant there need be no payment. As it turned out, the giant's name was discovered right after the building was finished.

"When the giant heard his name called out, and was told that he must go without any reward for his work, he became angry. In company with his wife he rushed to destroy the cathedral, but was turned into stone just in time."

That is the story which a Swede might tell, but you may be sure that there are few, if any, persons in Sweden who really believe it. Like other nations, Sweden has a share of folklore.

Sweden has about one and a half times the area of Norway, and almost two and a half times as many people.

One of the heroes in Swedish history is King Gustavus II, better known as Gustavus Adolphus. This king was a military leader with a great deal of skill. Three hundred and twenty-one years ago he led an army of 13,000 Swedes into Germany. His plan was to help German Protestants in the religious warfare which was going on. After winning a victory at Leipzig, he fought again at Lutzen and suffered a mortal wound, but his army won the battle.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF from sore, PAINFUL PILES

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have been fighting a ceaseless war—to save lives and to conquer dread diseases.

When they discover a new "miracle" drug or surgical technique, the news rings round the world! Yet all the while, other "unsung" men of science are working equally hard to relieve suffering caused by less dramatic, "everyday" maladies. Among them is perhaps the most painful of all—piles!

A Subject Seldom Discussed

Pile sufferers are burdened with a double hardship. They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it because of false pride and embarrassment. Yet to the man or woman who knows the agonizing torment of itching, burning piles, the truth about their trouble may mean a world of difference in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality!

What Causes Piles?

Piles are not a primary ailment. Conditions which cause them never originate in the parts affected. At first, piles are simply inflamed and distended "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. A common cause is hepatic congestion (torpidity of the liver) which results in ordinary, everyday constipation.

IMPORTANT! Here is frank information—in non-technical language—regarding an annoying, painful, often embarrassing physical condition which now afflicts countless thousands—you, perhaps, among them. For too frequently this condition, at first superficial in itself, can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe everyone who suffers from this condition owes it to his or her own personal comfort to read the statement below.

LEONHARDT PROPRIETARIES, LTD.

How Piles Develop

As the liver function slows down, blood flow from the lower bowel to the liver is retarded and small rectal veins swell with blood. Then, usually, constipation starts. Hard, clogging masses form in the lower bowel—irritating and bruising the distended rectal veins. Blood stagnates in and around areas, until the tiny veins become greatly inflamed, lumpy, horribly painful.

This agonizing pain aggravated by constipation, is "self-perpetuating". The constipation adds to the itching, burning pain and soreness—which in turn increases the constipation—which then tends to further enlarge the swollen veins until they become pile tumors. If this vicious circle is not broken, there is only one choice—chronic piles or the surgeon's knife!

Why Face This Choice?

Decide now to break this vicious circle! Many others have done so. Thanks to an able professional man who, more than 50 years ago, began an intensive study of piles—their cause and effect. Knowing that piles are caused by congested conditions inside the body, he wisely searched for an internal medication that would relieve hepatic congestion, stimulate bile flow, gently ease constipation and improve circulation of the blood in the lower bowel—thus helping Nature herself promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. Finally, in his own practice, he devised a formula of medically-proven elements—small tablets taken by mouth—which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 cases that came to his personal, professional attention!

Sufferers Acclaim Hem-Roid

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid—using it first in his own practice, later supplying it to friends and acquaintances. In 1904 he sold the formula and name. Since that time, millions of packages have been bought by the public throughout the world—and countless satisfied users of Hem-Roid testify to its quick, efficient action.

Accept This 10-Day Offer!

Naturally—long-standing, neglected cases of piles may call for a doctor's advice. But for average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the relief and results you want. To prove it, we make this special 10-day offer!

Now from any drugstore, get a package of Hem-Roid—60 tablets, 20 full days treatment—at the amazingly low price of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If at that time you are not delighted with results you get, just return the package with unused tablets to your drugstore for full refund of the purchase price! You risk nothing—and you stand to gain immeasurable relief from the embarrassing discomfort and torment of itching, burning piles. Ask for Hem-Roid—today!

TOURIST WANTS 'BOBBIES' BACK; POLICE NOW 'LIKE DECKHANDS'

In one man's opinion Victoria's policemen should revert to their old-style helmets and throw the new type away.

J. B. Greenlaw, Berkeley, Calif., visiting Victoria, said: "Victoria policemen now look like a bunch of deckhands. They have thrown away the dignity and respect that was theirs while wearing the helmets."

Mr. Greenlaw went on to say American tourists came up here to see something different but they are disappointed because the city is now becoming too "Americanized."

Engineering Institute Of Canada Reaches All-Time Membership Record Of 13,000

TORONTO — John E. Armstrong, chief engineer of the Canadian-Pacific Railway, and retiring president of the Engineering Institute of Canada, reported to the 64th annual meeting of the institute at the Royal York Hotel here Wednesday membership is now at an all-time high of more than 13,000.

He reported the institute has begun the compilation of a directory of Canadian consulting engineers. The listing will give specific information on the type of work in which those listed specialize. It is believed that such information, not at present easily available in Canada, will be of great use to the profession and to those requiring the services of engineering consultants.

During the past year three new branches of the institute have been chartered. There are now 33 active branches forming a coast-to-coast chain.

In conclusion, he said: "The institute is a vital thing not only in the life of the engineering profession but in the life of Canada because of the importance of the engineer in the development of the country."

U.F.G. Official Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—John F. Park, 68, secretary of United Fruit Growers, collapsed and died at his home here Wednesday. Death was believed due to a heart attack.

The St. John Ambulance Brigade Wednesday made application to City Council for a donation to help stage the brigade's annual field day exhibition and contest, to be held here Sept. 16. Purpose of the field day is to foster greater interest in first aid.

Large Rebate To Be Given King

LONDON (Reuter)—The King is to be given a £2,800 tax rebate because he canceled his trip to Australia and New Zealand two years ago.

The money was sales tax paid on clothes which the King had bought for himself and for those going on the trip with him. The tour was canceled because of the King's illness.

A treasury official said it was felt the King had been asked to go abroad as a public duty.
